Salt, Ashes Stockpiled

Crews Ready For Winter

By ROBERT POPP

The telephone jangles insistently at 3 in the morning and Street Supt. John Cornell answers in a sleepy voice.

It's the deskman at police headquarters telling him that snow is accumulating rapidly and that most of the major grades are becoming hazardous.

Cornell hangs up the telephone and then begins dialing. He's calling out the street department employes who will spread ashes and salt — and perhaps operate snow plows — so that the potter who drives down Lisbon St. Hill at 6:30 a.m. will have to cope only with rutted slush, instead of a heavy accumulation of snow underlaid wtih ice.

And by the time the E. 5th St. businessman descends the same grade two hours later, there'll be little trace of the post-midnight snow left on the pavement.

FROM NOVEMBER through April, the street department employes go to bed with the realization they may be rousted out in the pre-dawn hours to clear the pavements, while their fellow citizens sleep undisturbed, many of them unaware of the fresh snowfall until well after dawn.

Of course the battle against winter storms does not always fall between midnight and 6 a. m. Frequently it can begin before midnight and continue throughout the day and into the following evening. On occasions like that, street department employes have been known to work as long as 30 hours continuously.

The job of getting ready to cope with Winter 1968-69 has been going on for weeks at the street department's headquarters in the former carbarn on Pennsylvania Ave.

The hopper trucks are loaded with a mixture of ashes and salt, waiting for their first call to duty. Snowplows have been painted and oiled, ready to be mounted onto the front ends of the trucks that power them.

HUGE STOCKPILES of ashes and salt are ready to refill the beds and hoppers of the trucks.

The street department's men and equipment are ready to spring into action at the first "white alert"—a snowfall that accumulates on the pavements.

The department has about 650 tons of ashes on hand, a great proportion of them already processed, mixed with salt and stored inside one of the long, one-story buildings that comprise part of the former carbarn property.

Approximately 50 tons of salt also is stored under shelter in the same building. The city contracts for 250 tons of salt, more or less, for each winter. The material is shipped into East Liverpool by river barge. Street department trucks pick it up at

Hopes Fade For 78 In W.Va. Coal Mine

Smoke, Heat Hamper Bid For Rescue

Safety Inspector Says No Hope Of Getting Them Out

BULLETIN

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —Hope of rescuing the 78 miners trapped deep in a burning coal mine dimmed further today with an announcement that the fire in the shafts increased during the night.

MANNINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Dense smoke and intense heat kept rescue teams today from entering a coal mine where 78 men were trapped by a series of explosions and a fire.

Twenty-one men were rescued after the explosions early Wednesday thundered through the Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine which sits in the rich fields of north-central West Virginia amid clusters of gas wells.

"There's almost no hope of getting (the trapped men), out alive," said Harry Turner, safety inspector for Consolidation Coal Co., Mountaineer's parent firm.

If the initial explosion and fire didn't get to the men, Turner said, "it's possible that collapses within the mine caused by the heat and concussion would do them in."

Thirteen of the other 21 men in the mine when the first blast hit at 5:40 a.m. rushed to the surface. A giant crane pulled eight others from a ventilation shaft.

"We must wait until the flames die down," said William Poundstone, executive vice president of Consolidation. "Rescue operations are still impossible because of the density of the fire."

Company officials indicated no move toward rescue would be made before this afternoon, possibly later, because of the intense heat.

Hard-hatted miners waited in the nearby union hall during the night in case the situation changed. But thick smoke continued to curl from the mine's entrance.

Four of the men who made it out were put under observation at nearby Fairmont General Hospital. None was considered in serious condition.

GRIM-FACED, but dry-eyed, Mrs. Iris Davis Summers and her daughter, Linda Kay, 2, were still hopeful today that her brother, Dale Davis, would be among the survivors of the Farmington coal mine explosion which left 78 trapped Wednesday. (UPI Telephoto)

Proposed By Ohio House Group

State, County-Level Wage Tax, Business Levy Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A statewide, county level one per cent income tax and a five per cent business franchise tax, both expected, were recommended today by the House tax revision committee.

Other highlights of the proposal, presented at a news conference:

—Continuation of municipal taxes on personal income with this being counted toward payment of the local government income tax;

—Credits for personal property tax payments against the franchise and business income taxes;

—Repeal of municipal income taxes on business;

—Phasing out personal property taxes on business inventories over a four-year period;

personal property tax;

—Repeal of the intangible personal property tax;

—New methods of distributing tax funds to schools and other units of government throughout the state;

— Simplified administrative procedures.

The report culminates an 18-month study by the Bipartisan Select Committee on Tax Revision, headed by Rep. Albert H. Sealy Jr., a Dayton Republican who did not seek re-election this year.

Although Sealy emphasized secretiveness of the committee report several major points of the proposal had been published recently.

Sealy said the committee concluded from 24 hearings "that property taxation simply can't be expected to carry the increasing burden of inflation in the costs of schools and government services."

"We need a tax system with a built-in growth factor to produce added revenue without changing rates," he said. "The income tax approach is the most logical."

He said proposals such as his committee outlined would raise an additional $70 million — $32 million for schools, $27 million for municipalities, and $11 million for county governments.

The proposed one - per cent county income tax would have the effect of replacing any one per cent municipal income taxes through a credit procedure.

In Pennsylvania Race

Springer Margin Drops To 1 Vote

With the counting of absentee ballots in Beaver County Wednesday a 149-vote margin held by Frank W. Springer of Beaver Falls over Rep. Robert O. Davis also of Beaver Falls dwindled to one vote.

And hanging in the balance are eight ballots which were considered questionable and not counted either way.

In the race for assemblyman from the 13th Pennsylvania Legislative District Springer a political newcomer and a Democrat appeared to have unseated Davis Republican incumbent according to the complete but unofficial returns of the Nov. 5 election.

However absentee ballots are not counted in Pennsylvania until almost two weeks after the election.

Because of the closeness of the race William D. Smith director of Beaver County elections ordered a quick unofficial count be made of the vote for Springer and Davis Wednesday.

When it was completed late yesterday, the stally stool at 10,060 for Springer and 10,059 for Davis.

The official count of all regular tabulations and the absentee ballots was to begin today for the 13th District.

After the count is officially certified Davis will have 48 hours in which to petition Beaver County Courts to rule on the eight questionable ballots. The case could be appealed all the way to the State Supreme Court election sources pointed out.

There also is the possibility that Atty. Edwin M. Wallover

Nixon Holds Discussions About Cabinet

Names Being Kept Secret; Policies Also Considered

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, stretching his stay in Florida, is conducting discussions about the men who will make up his Cabinet, and the policies with which he will guide them.

But these deliberations are being described publicly only in the most broad and general terms. And the names under consideration are a carefully shielded secret.

The President-elect planned another round of manpower and policy talks today before heading back to New York, his nominal headquarters for the period of government transition but his base for only five days since his election.

Key participants in the current talks are Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California, and John N. Mitchell, a partner in the Nixon law firm who served as his campaign manager.

Cabinet posts for both men are considered a possibility and a Nixon spokesman said their personal roles in the administration had certainly come under discussion.

Sources in the Nixon camp said Finch can decide for imself whether he will take a position on the White House staff or accept a Cabinet-rank job. But there is a question of whether Finch will leave his political base in California, where he led the Republican ticket in gaining his current post. Finch has told associates his eventual goal is a seat in he U.S. Senate.

Vatican Says Pope Was Set To Visit Hanoi

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI was willing to visit the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi this month if circumstances had been more favorable, the Vatican disclosed today.

There was no suggestion, however, that the Pope now has any plans to go. Neither was there any suggestion that the trip to Vienam might have been taken as a peace negotiator.

The Pope said he had wanted to go to encourage North Vietnam's Roman Catholics in their "hard trials" and in their suffering.

The Vatican made public a letter, written Nov. 1 to Archbishop Joseph Marie Trim-nhu-Khue of Hanoi, in which the Pope said:

"If circumstances should have been more favorable, you must be ceratin that we should have very willingly come among you to encourage you in your hard trials and to make you feel to what extent we share them."

The Pope's letter gave no indication that he intended the trip as a peace mission to Hanoi.

Police Signal Locomotive As Auto Stalls On Tracks

In a real life drama that could have been lifted intact out of an old-time movie thriller, police used the flashing red lights and spotlight of a cruiser to flag down a locomotive Wednesday night before it crashed into an auto that was stalled on the Penn Central tracks 150 feet west of Broadway.

The freight train was slowed almost to a stop before it hit the 1962 sedan driven by Raymond Jenks, 22, of the Travelers Hotel. The only damage was a two-inch scrape on the deck lid of the auto.

Patrolman James Buckley said police were advised of the stalled auto at 11:50. Arriving on the scene at 11:53 and aware a train was due within moments, the officer used the red lights and spotlight of his cruiser to warn the engineer in the oncoming locomotive.

There was no damage to the locomotive, which had slowed to a near halt by the time it bumped the auto. The engineer was identified as Mike Gelaster, 63, of Columbus.

Officers said Jenks was operating a car owned by Rebecca Bedillon of 955 Ohio Ave. Jenks reported he turned off the River Rd. and started across the Broadway crossing when he was blinded by the headlights of an approaching vehicle that was traveling at a high rate of speed. He said he turned his auto onto the tracks to avoid a collision, then could not free the car from the rails.

Jenks was cited on charges of driving without an operator's license and illegal auto registration.

Jenks, appearing today in Municipal Court, was fined $25 and costs on the driver's license charge and $10 and costs on the illegal tag charge.

Two drivers were injured slightly in a collision Wednes-

Action Taken At Wellsville To Spur Levy

Wellsville Council, at a special meeting Wednesday night, approved first reading of a resolution to test the validity of a County Budget Commission ruling which would delay the collection of a 2-mill fire truck levy approved Nov. 5.

The four councilmen present approved a resolution authorizing City Solicitor William Bush to proceed with action in Common Pleas Court against the commission's ruling which prevents collection of the funds until 1969.

The ruling issued earlier this month indicated the tax collection could not apply to the current property rolls.

Present at the meeting were Councilmen Paul Todd, Nunzio Lombardozzi, Jack Call and Brad Phillips. Lombardozzi presided in the absence of Council President Wayne Rose.

In other action, Council approved second reading of a resolution calling for recodification of the city's ordinances and regulations.

Final reading is scheduled at a meeting tonight when the second reading of the resolution on action against the budget commission is planned.

Final reading of the budget commission resolution is planned Friday night.

Local Delegation Studies Lorain Housing Program

Twenty East Liverpool area representatives inspected a housing program in Lorain in an all - day trip Wednesday, seeking information and ideas that could be applied locally.

Making the trip by chartered bus, the delegation inspected Lorain's newly - developed housing, renovated units, high-rise apartments and low - income shelter. The group conferred with Ronald Ashley, director of the Lorain Metropolitan Housing Authority, who provided information on the programs and led the delegation on inspections of various types of units in the community of 85,000.

ASHLEY pointed out that 25,000 of Lorain's residents are elderly and most of them fall into low-income brackets.

Lorain has developed three or four high - rise buildings and is constructing another in the downtown area. Ashley said experience has shown the elderly prefer housing close to central business district facilities. The community also has a number of developments for low-income families. It also takes advantage of the federal rent subsidy program.

The local delegation inspected a unit on which the rent is $125 monthly. The occupants pay only $54 per month, however, and the balance is paid through the federal rent subsidy program. The group also checked a five - bedroom apartment on which the monthly rent is $160. They found that the occupants were paying about 25 per cent of the family income for the unit, valued at $16,500, and the balance was paid by the subsidy program.

The most unique program developed in Lorain calls for renovation and modernization of individual housing units or small groups of units so that they can be used for rentals. The group found that some elderly couples moved out of their large homes, occupied small publicly-built apartments, and then renovated their former homes with low - interest loans to be used as rental units.

MANY OF the newly - renovated and constructed units are scattered throughout the city, rather than being concentrated in one area, the local delegation learned. Lorain officials said many families prefer to live in distinctive, indvidual housing, rather than in a large development.

Some of the renovated properties are in neighborhoods full of homes in the $50,000 to $75,000 class. Lorain's housing authority is approximately eight years old.

The group left East Liverpool yesterday at 9 a.m. and returned about 7 p.m.

The delegation included E. H. Dierker and Mike Turk of the Technical Advisory Committee; James Lowe and Charles Sayre of the Housing Advisory Committee; George Steele, Frank Mangano, James Grafton and J. Clifford Conley of the City Planning Commission.

Aaron Eaton and Mayor Dean Crammer of Salem, representing the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority; Councilman Russell Keefer of Wellsville; Jack Bonner and Ben Weber of the City Health Department; James Reaney and James Allison of the First Federal Savings & Loan Co.; A. C. Purinton Jr. of the Potters Savings & Loan Co.; Frank Richmond of the First National Bank; Glen Wilson, realtor; Marvin Wooley, city building inspector, and Don Eckert, planning coordinator.

This is one of several suits the three men have filed against firms in an attempt to receive compensation for injuries they received in an industrial accident.

They were employed by the Mill Creek Electric Co. and were injured while installing a crane at the Vanport plant of the Westinghouse Corp. in November 1966.

Outlines Seen For Solving Money Crisis

BONN, Germany (AP) - Pressure on West Germany to revalue its mark ebbed and there were signs of a breakthrough today in talks by the Western world's top money managers to solve the latest international monetary crisis, German officials reported.

"The outlines for a solution are beginning to emerge," said West German Finance Minister Franz Josef Strauss.

He spoke to reporters during a lunch break in the meeting that began this morning after a nine hour session that started Wednesday broke up in a deadlock early today.

Conrad Ahlers, a West German government spokesman said pressure for the Bonn government to revalue the mark upward had ebbed. But he gave no details.

In the meeting were the economics and finance ministers and national bank governors from the West's 10 chief trading nations. Their aim was to bolster the French franc and stabilize the international monetary system.

In Paris, the Bank of France announced that the nation's official reserves fell another $178.4 million under the pressure of heavy speculation last week. It was the biggest loss in 18 weeks and it pushed the total of France's gold and foreign currency reserves below $4 billion for the first time in years.

Markets in London also were shut and most dealers expressed a belief they would be kept closed until Monday.

There were some indications that the action had eased slightly the tension that had been building up in exchanges and stock and gold markets for days.

Gold at this morning's fixing in London eased off 30 cents from Wednesday's level to $40.25 an ounce. Dealers said demand was well below Wednesday's level. The situation was similar with silver, platinum and other metals in the London markets.

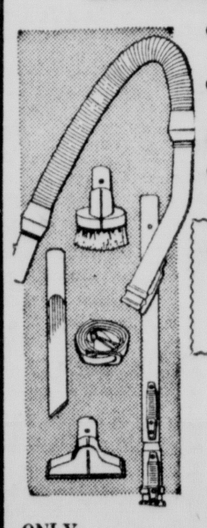

After the first Bonn meeting broke up early today, Strauss told newsmen: "We have made clear we shall not revaluate. The fronts have hardened. Neither shall we go beyond the measures we have proposed."

Strauss' government announced Tuesday that it would reduce both its taxes on imports and the tax rebate it has been paying on exports. This should reduce the West German foreign trade surplus that has aroused belief the mark will be revalued, a belief that is one of the chief causes for speculators exchanging francs for marks in huge quantities.

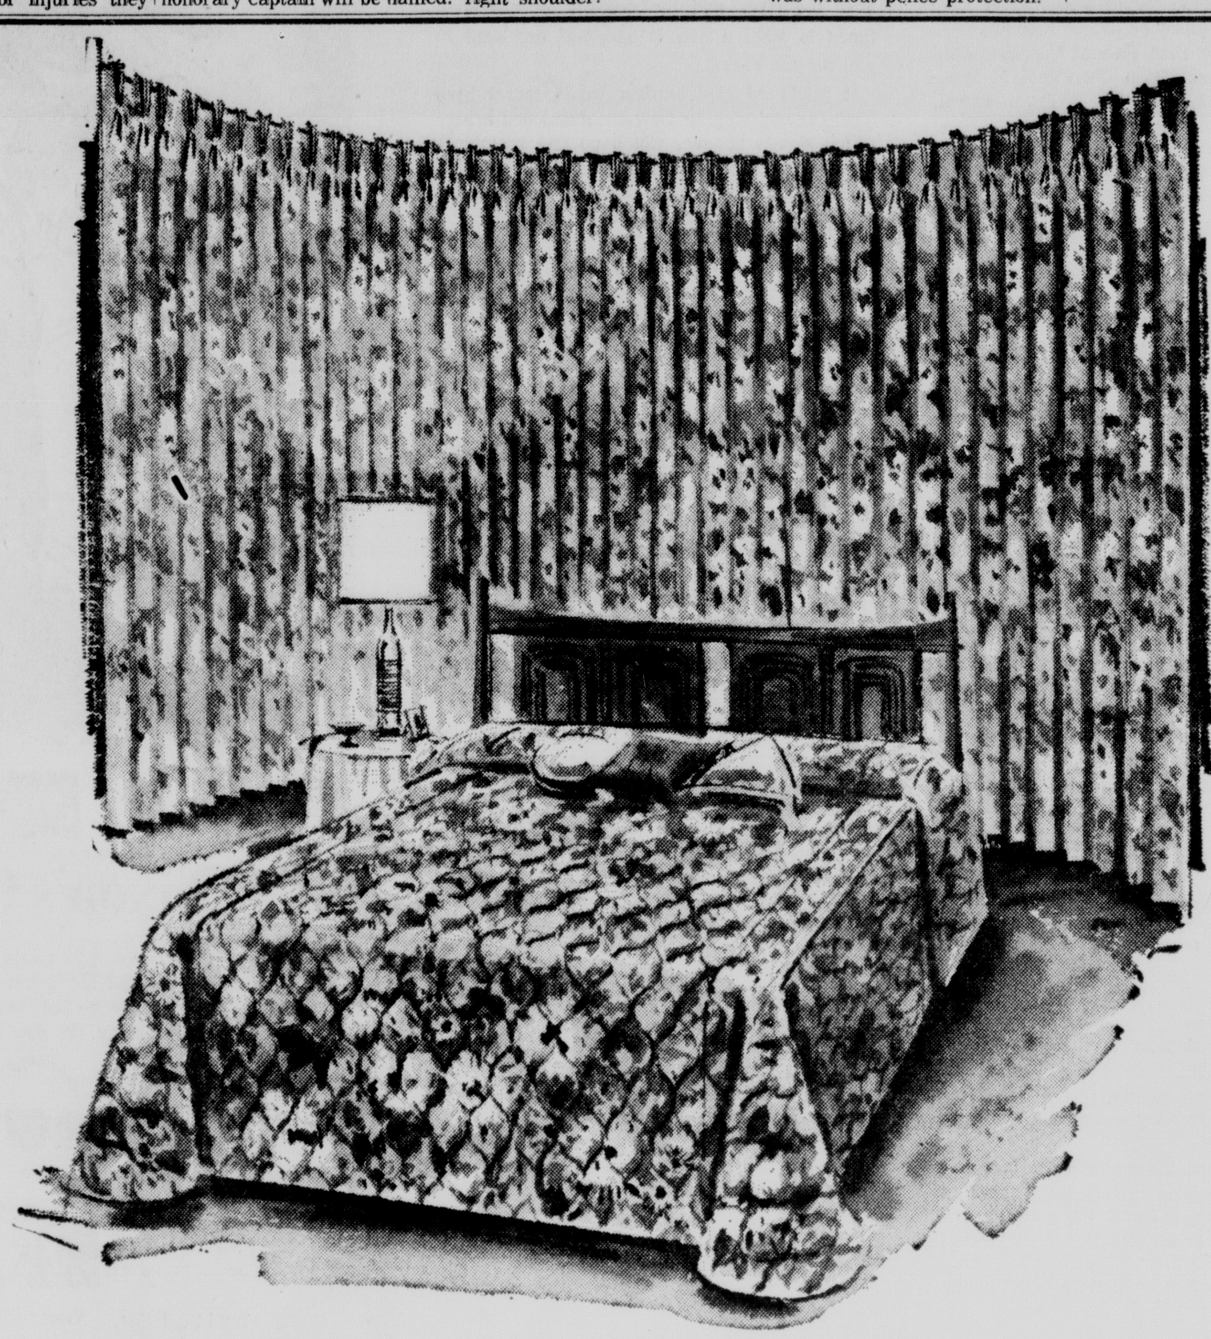

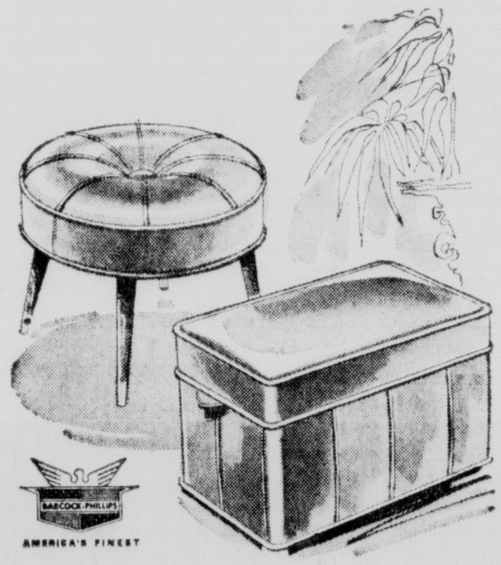

U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, British Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins and French Finance Minister Francois Xavier Ortoli were tightlipped as they left to get a few hours sleep before returning to the conference table.

While the ministers argued in Bonn, the major foreign exchange markets around the world were closed for the rest of the week to check the flight from the franc. Speculators turned to gold Wednesday, but not much of the metal was available.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

A Dependable Newspaper Serving the Tri-State District

A Tourist Attraction?

The East Liverpool area placed no tourist attraction among the "eight wonders" of Ohio as selected by a panel of judges recently.

Chosen were the Blue Hole at Castalia, Flint Ridge near Newark, Deep Cut Canal at Spencerville, Glacial Grooves at Kelley's Island, Perry's victory monument at Put-in-Bay, Rock House at Hocking State Forest, Serpent Mount in Adams County and the state capitol building.

We certainly believe the Chester Bridge will be a contender in two years.

UNLIKE PITTSBURGH'S "bridge to nowhere," the span — to be closed on an engineering firm's recommendation because of its weakened conditioned — will be a bridge to somewhere but unusable.

It is becoming increasingly doubtful a new bridge will be constructed within the two years allowed the Chester Bridge, so it will stand as a monument to frustration and delay.

Further, Ohio, which claims it cannot build a new bridge, will nevertheless be faced with the expense of dismantling the rusting span, because West Virginia, which has jurisdiction over the river and the problem of providing funds to build a new bridge, will not want to pay for the razing.

It might be that tourists would travel here from far and wide to view an abandoned bridge which serves no one, which no one seemingly wants to replace, which no one wants to tear down, a symbol of economic decay and intergovernmental cooperation breakdown.

IT COULD be the subject of numerous books in political science, magazine articles and television specials on the problems of state borders; it could serve as a national joke for comedians, even provide the theme for a great Broadway play.

But no amount of tourists, no degree of satire could bring solace to the existing residents, industries and businesses already suffering the economic pinch of the travel handicap and who face staggering losses unless the new bridge construction starts very soon.

Worth Another Try

A Youngstown state senator, Charles J. Carney, has predicted the 108th Ohio General Assembly will give birth to a new attempt to write a clearly defined homestead exemption to the Ohio constitution.

Sen. Carney has interpreted the resounding defeat of the homestead exemption proposal in the general election the same as a lot of other Ohioans — it was not specific enough.

State Issue 2 would have given the legislature power to grant exemptions to unspecified Ohio residents — not necessarily those over 65.

Voters wanted no part of that kind of deal and defeated the issue by nearly half a million votes.

There still is a need for tax relief for Ohio citizens over 65 and it is up to the legislature to draft an amendment that will answer it.

It is unfortunate Issue 2 was not written in a form acceptable to the voter so relief would be on the way for senior citizens.

The next best course for legislators is quick action on a good amendment to be placed before voters as early as possible.

The Money Game

No sacred cows wander in the international money market.

Speculators weaken dollars, francs, marks or pounds with equal ferocity in hopes of making a killing.

France has played the game against American dollars and now is feeling the pinch that comes when the shoe is on the other foot.

France has had to ask for reassurance from Western nations that they will uphold the integrity of the franc and keep it from being devalued.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville says he has the assurance but he didn't spell out what steps are being taken to shore up the franc.

He no doubt will have full support from the West. Not necessarily willingly but of necessity.

When an international financial crisis looms, old animosities are put aside in favor of a united effort.

Letter To The Editor

Youths Commended

With the much publicized delinquent element of today, and the blame of all the teen-agers as delinquent, I would like to express my most sincere protest.

There may be a minority of young people who fit this category, but the majority still reflect the best of our community.

Saturday my wife and I were chaperones at a dance at Southern Local School. It was arranged, decorated and sponsored by the Tri-Beta Club. These teen - agers did a magnificent job.

Everything was attended and followed through as if done by professionals (Even the cleanup the next day) without the supervision of the so - called older folks.

I wish to express my thanks to the school and all the teachers for doing such an outstanding job of molding our youth. These young people conducted themselves at the dance with all the manners and polish each of us expects of them.

Not once during the evening did anyone give or cause any mischief.

If the people who think these teen-agers are delinquents would go to a few of the affairs and observe, I'm certain they would change their minds.

Again, to the Southern Local staff and the student body, my most sincere thanks and well done. My wife and I considered it a privelege and an honor to have been chaperones.

And to the people who think all teen-agers are delinquents, let the person who has never been mischevievous in his life cast the first stone.

The Hunger Strikers

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — A parent never knows what kind of call he's going to get these days from his offspring in college. The other evening a friend of mine received a call from his daughter who attends a small Midwest school.

Art Buchwald

"Hello, Daddy," she said. "Guess what? I'm on a hunger strike."

My friend gulped. "That's wonderful, Martha. How long have you been on it?"

"Two days. I'm starving."

"Where are you calling from?" my friend asked.

"THE DORM. Almost all the girls here are on the strike, too."

"Isn't that nice" my friend gulped again. "Tell me, what are you striking about?"

"Just a minute," his daughter said — and then he heard her ask someone next to her, "What are we striking about?"

A moment later she replied, "We're on a hunger strike because they're recruiting on campus."

"Who's recruiting on campus?"

"What do you mean who's recruiting on campus?"

"Are you striking against companies who are recruiting on campus or military recruiting?"

"HOLD IT," SHE SAID In the background he could hear her ask, "Who are we striking against? Commercial recruiters or military recruiters?"

She came back on the line. "It's commercial, Daddy. They want people to join the Dow Chemical Co."

"How long do you expect to be on your hunger strike?" my friend asked.

"How long are we going to be on the hunger strike?" he heard his daughter ask someone.

There was a pause and she came back on the line. "Nobody knows. This is the first time anyone's done it."

"Can't you give me some idea?" my friend said.

He could hear her talking with people in the background. "Susie said that Ghandi went for 60 days without eating or drinking anything but orange juice."

"But he was in training," my friend said. "He de-escalated his food intake for months before he struck."

He heard his daughter say to her friends. "He says Gandhi trained for his hunger strike."

More background talking. Then his daughter came on: "That's what we were calling you about. How long do you think we should stay on it?"

"I'm flattered that you'd ask me," my friend said, "but frankly, I've never been involved in a hunger strike myself. I thought you kids usually took over the administration building."

"IT DOESN'T HAVE THE IMPACT of a hunger strike. You should see the president of the school. He's practically in tears. Our cheeks are all sallow, and we groan a lot. The president knows how to deal with student sit-ins, but he has no idea what to do with kids who are starving themselves to death."

"Well, I'm very proud of you," my friend said. "You're certainly sticking up for your principles. I'd say I'd give it another day and then you'll have made your point."

He heard his daughter tell her friends, "He says to give it another day and then we'll have made our point." Pause — then she came on the line. "Do you mean another day, like tomorrow, or 24 hours from, like now, when I'm talking to you?"

My friend pretended to weigh the choice. "I would say 24 hours from now."

His daughter repeated the decision and my friend heard a cheer go up from the dorm. "Thanks, Dad, We'll never forget what you've done for us."

Nixon's Call To George M.

NEW YORK — Dick Nixon was set to catch the musical comedy, "George M!", that night. But that's not why he made the call. He would have telephoned anyway. It was just a matter of time. So before going home to dress for the theater, the President-elect reached for the phone and buzzed the unmusical George M.—for Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, which was Hubert Humphrey's sole vote-getting machine. That was Wednesday. The talk was friendly.

Victor Riesel

Mr. Nixon invited Mr. Meany to come up and see him on Friday. The labor chief said, certainly. Two powerful men who truly cannot live without each other professionally, have talked. They are pros. Unless one declares open war on the other, they will work together.

Mr. Meany risks nothing. He and his movement have no real future in "the party." It's the party which has a future in the labor movement.

Already the Democratic left is searing America's labor chiefs. Just a few weeks ago, Adam Wolsinsky, the late Bob Kennedy's Ted Sorensen, arose at a meeting of the new, new coalition, and denounced "the labor bosses" and excoriated their use of "union funds for political purposes." Applause from the encamped. Few realize, incidentally, that Wolinsky's grandfather, still active inside labor, was the leader of the historica ladies' garment Embroidery Workers Local 66.

MR. MEANY WILL GET into no hog-calling contest with the party's leftists, who have little in common with the powerful labor movement. Nor will Mr. Meany yield his hold on the party's regular machinery. If a coalition—for the next four years—is in the making, he'd rather stand with the President of the U.S. than with the Wolkinskys and Galbraiths and McCarthys, who have mocked the movement at the drop of every bon mot.

Furthermore, the union chieftain would rather see a White House-labor alliance than a Nixon-Southern alliance.

Of course, Mr. Nixon knows this well. He's no novice on this labor beat. He's been on the beat since the 1947 days on the House Education and Labor Committee. He's been a warm and friendly host to union officials many times. Generally, the public recalls his mediation of the 1958 marathon steel strike. But he knew the boys long before that.

Some of us recall his hosting a lunch in 1955. Among those around the table were Max Greenberg, now an AFL-CIO vice president, Jack Potofsky, leader of the Amalgamated (Men's) Clothing Workers, and others interested in winning President Eisenhower's support for an increase of 25 cents an hour in the national minimum wage. This would have raised it from 75 cents to a dollar.

Dick Nixon invited the union chiefs in. He quipped with them. He poured them wine. And quietly he told them that the President had a thing on inflation. He'd never go for a dollar minimum. Ask for 90 cents Nixon advised.

THE UNION LEADERS later conferred with "the old man." They told him the extra quarter would mean shoes for the children, milk on the table, more bread for the family. The general listened carefully. Often nodding gravely, he turned to the late Jim Mitchell, Secretary of Labor. Then Ike recommended an increase to 90 cents.

Quite often Dick Nixon played a similar advisory role. He and Jim Mitchell were President Eisenhower's left wing.

President-elect Nixon recalls the day in '52 when President-elect Eisenhower called in George M. to confer on the naming of a Secretary of Labor. The general took Mr. Meany's advice then. Now history repeats itself.

Ike and Mr. Meany were friendly right through the Eisenhower years. In the final hours of the presidency, Ike drove over to a hotel farewell party labor gave for Jim Mitchell. The union men cheered them both and told Ike he had named the best Secretary of Labor since the post was created in '13.

It could go that route with Richard Nixon. The fight will flare only if the new president attempts to wipe out the National Labor Relations Board, or cripple it. Or if Dick Nixon pushes for tough anti-strike laws banning national walkouts, or coalition bargaining, or public sector strikes.

That's what the management movement wants. It gave Dick Nixon greater loyalty than any other force. Mr. Nixon never turns his back on old friends and supporters. So it won't be easy—even for such a political scientist and strategist as he.

But he did make tre call before seeing the musical George M. He and Mr. Meany certainly will discuss the play. Mr. Meany is an old vaudeville buff. So the talk should be a Yankee Doodle dandy for the two men who have been going at each other publicly these many years.

Odd Facts

It is still a disputed question among historians as to whether Babylonian or Egyptian civilization came first. Possibly, both countries took their first steps toward culture at about the same time.

The Emancipation Proclamation as written by President Lincoln is still in existence. In 1864, the document was sold at a bazaar to benefit wounded soldiers. Later, the New York Legislature appropriated funds to buy the proclamation and added it to hisotric papers in Albany.

Disgraceful Happening

When more than a million public-school students are denied classroom instruction for 39 days and the government of the biggest city in the country is unable to handle the strike which caused it, the event may well be regarded as one of the most disgraceful happenings in history.

Now, in order to make up lost time, students are going to be deprived of their normal holidays. Under the schedule announced, the students must go to school Nov. 29; Dec. 26, 27, 30 and 31; Feb. 12, and for four days during the usual Easter week recess.

They will also be compelled to attend classes for an extra 45 minutes each school day for the 14 weeks between Nov. 25 and March 7.

SO THE CHILDREN are the ones who will pay the penalty for the failure of the city government and the teachers to solve their dispute without a closing down of the public schools of the city. Some schools, of course, were able to stay open, and there were efforts made by helpful citizens to improvise classes in various parts of the city.

Much blame will be placed upon the union but there is every evidence that, if the seriousness of the problem had been recognized earlier, a compromise might have been reached which would have made unnecessary the closing of the schools.

There are, of course, racial problems involved. The city had proposed a "decentralization" plan which would have left to local control the selection of teachers. The labor union objected to this because, it is claimed, white teachers were being discriminated against, particularly those who were members of the union.

These questions are, of course, difficult to deal with satisfactorily and there have been charges of racism and threats and intimidation as well as some outbreaks of violence. But it does seem incredible that the city government or the state government was not able to prevent the loss of so many days of school for the pupils.

Even with the settlement of the strike, there are fears that many of the teachers may remain hostile and be unable to co-operate with each other as they should. Some of the teachers and parents are said to be more militant in their views now than they were before the strike.

CERTAINLY THE EPISODE would indicate the necessity for legislation which would provide mediation machinery or some kind of arbitration system that would enable the two sides to thresh out their differences while the schools continued to function.

In the major industries of America, particularly in transportation, Congress has passed laws which allow the government to bar strikes during a cooling-off period of 60 to 90 days.

There are various forms of discipline in labor-management relations which could be applied when the public schools in a large city are suddenly threatened with a strike that may deprive the school children of their educational opportunities.

In this case, the governing board in a particular area, which is inhabited mostly by Negroes and Puerto Ricans, insisted on the right to hire and dismiss teachers, and it was feared by the teachers that this would transform the school system of the whole city.

When such fundamental issues arise, the controversy is not just an ordinary strike but one which concerns the residents of the community, the members of labor unions, and city and state governments. Experienced mediators were brought into the situation but their efforts failed.

Now that the damage has been done, the question arises whether the state legislature will enact stronger legislation to prevent such a breakdown from happening again.

WHERE WAS the federal government, it may be asked, during all the racial friction among the teachers in the public schools of New Hork City? In the past, when anything involving "discrimination" arose in other parts of the country, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare did not hesitate to threaten to withhold public funds unless its guidelines" were followed.

But, possibly for political or other reasons not disclosed, the department this time kept its hands off completely and the battle went on without federal intervention of any kind.

A Tourist Attraction?

The East Liverpool area placed no tourist attraction among the "eight wonders" of Ohio as selected by a panel of judges recently.

Chosen were the Blue Hole at Castalia, Flint Ridge near Newark, Deep Cut Canal at Spencerville, Glacial Grooves at Kelley's Island, Perry's victory monument at Put-in-Bay, Rock House at Hocking State Forest, Serpent Mount in Adams County and the state capitol building.

We certainly believe the Chester Bridge will be a contender in two years.

UNLIKE PITTSBURGH'S "bridge to nowhere," the span — to be closed on an engineering firm's recommendation because of its weakened conditioned — will be a bridge to somewhere but unusable.

It is becoming increasingly doubtful a new bridge will be constructed within the two years allowed the Chester Bridge, so it will stand as a monument to frustration and delay.

Further, Ohio, which claims it cannot build a new bridge, will nevertheless be faced with the expense of dismantling the rusting span, because West Virginia, which has jurisdiction over the river and the problem of providing funds to build a new bridge, will not want to pay for the razing.

It might be that tourists would travel here from far and wide to view an abandoned bridge which serves no one, which no one seemingly wants to replace, which no one wants to tear down, a symbol of economic decay and intergovernmental cooperation breakdown.

IT COULD be the subject of numerous books in political science, magazine articles and television specials on the problems of state borders; it could serve as a national joke for comedians, even provide the theme for a great Broadway play.

But no amount of tourists, no degree of satire could bring solace to the existing residents, industries and businesses already suffering the economic pinch of the travel handicap and who face staggering losses unless the new bridge construction starts very soon.

Worth Another Try

A Youngstown state senator, Charles J. Carney, has predicted the 108th Ohio General Assembly will give birth to a new attempt to write a clearly defined homestead exemption to the Ohio constitution.

Sen. Carney has interpreted the resounding defeat of the homestead exemption proposal in the general election the same as a lot of other Ohioans — it was not specific enough.

State Issue 2 would have given the legislature power to grant exemptions to unspecified Ohio residents — not necessarily those over 65.

Voters wanted no part of that kind of deal and defeated the issue by nearly half a million votes.

There still is a need for tax relief for Ohio citizens over 65 and it is up to the legislature to draft an amendment that will answer it.

It is unfortunate Issue 2 was not written in a form acceptable to the voter so relief would be on the way for senior citizens.

The next best course for legislators is quick action on a good amendment to be placed before voters as early as possible.

The Money Game

No sacred cows wander in the international money market.

Speculators weaken dollars, francs, marks or pounds with equal ferocity in hopes of making a killing.

France has played the game against American dollars and now is feeling the pinch that comes when the shoe is on the other foot.

France has had to ask for reassurance from Western nations that they will uphold the integrity of the franc and keep it from being devalued.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville says he has the assurance but he didn't spell out what steps are being taken to shore up the franc.

He no doubt will have full support from the West. Not necessarily willingly but of necessity.

When an international financial crisis looms, old animosities are put aside in favor of a united effort.

Neither the United States nor Britain need that right now.

Letter To The Editor

Youths Commended

With the much publicized delinquent element of today, and the blame of all the teen-agers as delinquent, I would like to express my most sincere protest.

There may be a minority of young people who fit this category, but the majority still reflect the best of our community.

Saturday my wife and I were chaperones at a dance at Southern Local School. It was arranged, decorated and sponsored by the Tri-Beta Club. These teen - agers did a magnificent job.

Everything was attended and followed through as if done by professionals (Even the cleanup the next day) without the supervision of the so - called older folks.

I wish to express my thanks to the school and all the teachers for doing such an outstanding job of molding our youth. These young people conducted themselves at the dance with all the manners and polish each of us expects of them.

Not once during the evening did anyone give or cause any mischief.

If the people who think these teen-agers are delinquents would go to a few of the affairs and observe, I'm certain they would change their minds.

Again, to the Southern Local staff and the student body, my most sincere thanks and well done. My wife and I considered it a privelege and an honor to have been chaperones.

And to the people who think all teen-agers are delinquents, let the person who has never been mischevievous in his life cast the first stone.

The Hunger Strikers

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — A parent never knows what kind of call he's going to get these days from his offspring in college. The other evening a friend of mine received a call from his daughter who attends a small Midwest school.

Art Buchwald

"Hello, Daddy," she said. "Guess what? I'm on a hunger strike."

My friend gulped. "That's wonderful, Martha. How long have you been on it?"

"Two days. I'm starving."

"Where are you calling from?" my friend asked.

"THE DORM. Almost all the girls here are on the strike, too."

"Isn't that nice" my friend gulped again. "Tell me, what are you striking about?"

"Just a minute," his daughter said — and then he heard her ask someone next to her, "What are we striking about?"

A moment later she replied, "We're on a hunger strike because they're recruiting on campus."

"Who's recruiting on campus?"

"What do you mean who's recruiting on campus?"

"Are you striking against companies who are recruiting on campus or military recruiting?"

"HOLD IT," SHE SAID In the background he could hear her ask, "Who are we striking against? Commercial recruiters or military recruiters?"

She came back on the line. "It's commercial, Daddy. They want people to join the Dow Chemical Co."

"How long do you expect to be on your hunger strike?" my friend asked.

"How long are we going to be on the hunger strike?" he heard his daughter ask someone.

There was a pause and she came back on the line. "Nobody knows. This is the first time anyone's done it."

"Can't you give me some idea?" my friend said.

He could hear her talking with people in the background. "Susie said that Ghandi went for 60 days without eating or drinking anything but orange juice."

"But he was in training," my friend said. "He de-escalated his food intake for months before he struck."

He heard his daughter say to her friends, "He says Gandhi trained for his hunger strike."

More background talking. Then his daughter came on: "That's what we were calling you about. How long do you think we should stay on it?"

"I'm flattered that you'd ask me," my friend said, "but frankly, I've never been involved in a hunger strike myself. I thought you kids usually took over the administration building."

"IT DOESN'T HAVE THE IMPACT of a hunger strike. You should see the president of the school. He's practically in tears. Our cheeks are all sallow, and we groan a lot. The president knows how to deal with student sit-ins, but he has no idea what to do with kids who are starving themselves to death."

"Well, I'm very proud of you," my friend said. "You're certainly sticking up for your principles. I'd say I'd give it another day and then you'll have made your point."

He heard his daughter tell her friends, "He says to give it another day and then we'll have made our point." Pause — then she came on the line. "Do you mean another day, like tomorrow, or 24 hours from, like now, when I'm talking to you?"

My friend pretended to weigh the choice. "I would say 24 hours from now."

His daughter repeated the decision and my friend heard a cheer go up from the dorm. "Thanks, Dad, We'll never forget what you've done for us."

Enemy Casualties Up

3 U.S. Aircraft Down, Killing 8

SAIGON (AP) -- Three U.S. aircraft have been shot down near Da Nang, killing eight Americans and injuring 12 others, the U.S. Command announced today.

The allied commands also reported that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese casualties increased last week while those of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces dropped. The totals were 1,838 of the enemy killed, 127 Americans and 128 South Vietnamese.

The aircraft lost were a big Marine CH46 helicopter, an F100 Super Sabre jet and an F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber.

The helicopter was shot down Wednesday as it was landing infantrymen 14 miles south of Dan Nang, in an area where South Vietnamese forces killed hundreds of North Vietnamese in a big battle Sunday. Six Americans were killed and 12 were wounded in the helicopter crash. The chopper was the 926th helicopter downed in combat during the Vietnam war, a spokesman said.

The Super Sabre was shot down northwest of Da Nang Wednsday as it was directing bombers to their targets, and the Phantom was downed in the same area Tuesday. The Phantom's two crewmen were killed, but the two men aboard the Super Sabre were rescued by helicopter.

The loss of the two jets raised the total of U.S. fixed-wing planes downed in combat in South Vietnam to 322.

Just after dawn today, North Vietnamese troops sent 10 rounds of Russian 140mm rockets into the U.S. 1st Marine Division headquarters six miles southwest of Da Nang. The headquarters said casualties and damage were light.

It was the second day in a row that military installations around Da Nang were shelled.

In another action in the Da Nang area, troops of the US. 196th Light Infantry Brigade clashed with about 300 North Vietnamese entrenched in fortified positions 33 miles southwest of the city Wednesday. The Americans reported killing at least 20 of the enemy in a day-long fight and said four Americans were killed and 10 wounded.

Last week's toll of 1,838 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed compared with a revised total of 1,601 for the week before and probably will increase considerably as more reports come in.

In addition to the 127 Americans killed, the U.S. Command said 1,031 were wounded last week, and 393 of these were hospitalized.

Encouraging Report Given To Lisbon Area's Merchants

LISBON — Allen Dickey president of the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce gave the merchants' division an encouraging report at a dinner meeting Tuesday in the Wick Hotel.

He mentioned the cooperative attitude of Lisbon area residents toward economic development, an increase in the Chamber's membership this year, an active merchants' group and improvements in streets, sidewalks and business places. A local feed mill operator Dickey called Lisbon "a nice place in which to live and do business."

Commenting on the Chamber's lack of success in attracting industries Dickey cited competition from other communities with industrial parks and utilities already installed for new industry.

The president said a comprehensive plan now being developed for Lisbon with the aid of a federal grant will be a guide for village officials and business interests.

Thirl Flugan street commissioner outlined his plans for Christmas lighting around the Square. He said there will be no lights along the streets in the business district this holiday season. William Hannahan discussed Christmas advertising and store hours.

Harold Pickering showed flagholders being made by the welding class at the high school. Merchants plan to attach them to parking meters in front of their stores and display the flag each day the weather is satisfactory.

Merchants said they discontinued putting out the flags in holes at the edge of the sidewalks because cars backing into parking places broke the poles.

The merchants welcomed Andy Rubish pharmacist at Hamilton Drugstore and William Howell owner of the court restaurant.

The group voted to meet on the first Tuesday of each month beginning in January.

interim permit for temporary racing at Pocono Downs.

The four licenses are the maximum under existing legislation.

Chairman Roy Wilkinson of the racing commission said his agency had agreed to ask the legislature to authorize issuance of a fifth license.

As another alternative, Wilkinson suggested that perhaps one or more of the racing associations receiving licenses might not want to meet the stipulations laid down. In that event, he said, "we could offer a license to someone else."

This was in apparent reference to Western Pennsylvania, where a harness track is located near Washington.

Those newly licensed thoroughbred associations desiring to begin racing next year on existing harness tracks presumably would have to coordinate their dates with harness dates already approved by the Harness Racing Commission.

Assigned trotting dates at Liberty Bell for next year are Feb. 13 to May 10, and Sept. 5 to Nov. 1. Pocono's dates are June 28 to Sept. 8.

Wilkinson emphasized that approval of the licenses after long and continued hearings represented a unanimous decision on the part of the three-member commission.

He said the commission was not subjected to pressures in making its choices.

"I want to state publicly," Wilkinson said, "that neither the governor, nor any member of his cabinet nor any legislator, nor any politician beat on us. This is quite a compoliment to them, and quite a kindness to us."

Street Crews Prepare For Winter Snow, Ice

the docks and haul it to the East End barn.

THE ASHES come from the steel mill unsorted, so they must be processed before they can be spread on the streets. The truckloads dumped on the ground at the street department barn contain huge clinkers and brickbats. The city employes sort out the largest clinkers and other foreign objects by hand and then spread the ashes on a concrete slab and "pulverize" them with a heavy roller so they will feed thrcugh the ash hoppers smoothly.

After the processing, the ashes are mixed with salt to give a double barreled effect when spread on pavements—providing traction as well as helping melt the snow or ice. In addition to assuring an easy feed through the ash hoppers, the sorting and processing helps eliminate foreign objects that might damage auto tires if spread onto the streets.

Storing the cinder-salt combination indoors means that the stockpiles can be handled easily when trucks are to be reloaded. Although the storage building is unheated, the ash piles usually freeze only in a thin crust. The fact salt is mixed with the ashes before storage also helps prevent freezing.

IN THE DAYS before the city acquired the old carbarn and moved all its street department operations to one spot, the ashes usually were stockpiled on the River Rd. Exposed to snow, rain and severe temperatures, the ash piles sometimes developed a rock - like crust several feet thick and it was a difficult task to break them up with a high lift and move them on to trucks.

In those days, the salt was stored in one of the buildings at the carbarn, which the city rented, and the high lift usually was kept in East End also.

Some of the trucks were kept overnight in the former incinerator department plant on the river front and others were in the old street department garage in West End. There was a flurry of equipment moving each time a snow-removal job developed, particularly in the middle of the night.

With all the equipment in one spot now, the lost time is held to a minimum. Most of the department's equipment is stored in the huge brick building in which the traction company kept and serviced its streetcars and later its buses.

WHEN A SNOW alert comes in the middle of the night, Cornell usually calls out two crews to man two hopper trucks which are loaded and ready to go. They're 2½-ton dump trucks with inward-sloping beds that feed the ashes steadily onto a continuous chain in the bottom. The variable speed chain feed spreads the ashes in a wide arc behind the trucks.

The trucks have the mission of scattering ashes and salt on the main thoroughfares. One heads toward the downtown area, probably scattering ashes near traffic lights along the way if Pennsylvania Ave. is slick. Then it spreads ashes on the upgrade on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." and on the long hill leading into the downtown area to Broadway. It usually has enough material remaining in the first load to ash the St. Clair Ave. grade as far as the North Side fire station.

Meanwhile, the second truck has spread ashes on: First, the Lisbon St. Hill; second, Shadyside Ave., and then the Freeway if it also is slippery.

The exact schedule varies, of course, depending upon the severity of conditions. But the rule of thumb calls for the first service on the major thoroughfares on the premise that they affect the most motorists.

THE "MIX" in the trucks also is varied to meet conditions. The proportion of salt to ashes is increased in a severe storm. The crews know also that pavements are more slippery when snow is just below the freezing point — wet and slushy—than when the mercury is near zero and the snow is crisp and dry.

Driving can be just as hazardous in a very light snow as in a heavy fall. And the worst conditions of all, for street department and motorists alike, result from a freezing rain — a drizzle that turns instantly to ice upon contact.

The department has seven major pieces of equipment used regularly in battling snow. And other equipment, such as graders and highlifts, can be utilized in a very deep fall in which the snow must be cleared and hauled away from the business district.

In addition to the trucks with the hopper bodies, there are two 2½-ton trucks mounting 10-foot snow plows and equipped with tailgate ash spreaders. There's a pair of three-quarter ton trucks with four-wheel drive and mounting eight-foot snowplows. Equipped with pull-type spreaders on the rear, they are used mainly for snow clearing on secondary streets where the clearance is too narrow for the larger trucks.

The department also has a snow blower which is fastened to the front of a highlift.

Enemy Casualties Up

3 U.S. Aircraft Down, Killing 8

SAIGON (AP) -- Three U.S. aircraft have been shot down near Da Nang, killing eight Americans and injuring 12 others, the U.S. Command announced today.

The allied commands also reported that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese casualties increased last week while those of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces dropped. The totals were 1,838 of the enemy killed, 127 Americans and 128 South Vietnamese.

The aircraft lost were a big Marine CH46 helicopter, an F100 Super Sabre jet and an F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber.

The helicopter was shot down Wednesday as it was landing infantrymen 14 miles south of Dan Nang, in an area where South Vietnamese forces killed hundreds of North Vietnamese in a big battle Sunday. Six Americans were killed and 12 were wounded in the helicopter crash. The chopper was the 926th helicopter downed in combat during the Vietnam war, a spokesman said.

The Super Sabre was shot down northwest of Da Nang Wednsday as it was directing bombers to their targets, and the Phantom was downed in the same area Tuesday. The Phantom's two crewmen were killed, but the two men aboard the Super Sabre were rescued by helicopter.

The loss of the two jets raised the total of U.S. fixed-wing planes downed in combat in South Vietnam to 322.

Just after dawn today, North Vietnamese troops sent 10 rounds of Russian 140mm rockets into the U.S. 1st Marine Division headquarters six miles southwest of Da Nang. The headquarters said casualties and damage were light.

It was the second day in a row that military installations around Da Nang were shelled.

In another action in the Da Nang area, troops of the US. 196th Light Infantry Brigade clashed with about 300 North Vietnamese entrenched in fortified positions 33 miles southwest of the city Wednesday. The Americans reported killing at least 20 of the enemy in a day-long fight and said four Americans were killed and 10 wounded.

Last week's toll of 1,838 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed compared with a revised total of 1,601 for the week before and probably will increase considerably as more reports come in.

In addition to the 127 Americans killed, the U.S. Command said 1,031 were wounded last week, and 393 of these were hospitalized.

Encouraging Report Given To Lisbon Area's Merchants

LISBON — Allen Dickey president of the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce gave the merchants' division an encouraging report at a dinner meeting Tuesday in the Wick Hotel.

He mentioned the cooperative attitude of Lisbon area residents toward economic development, an increase in the Chamber's membership this year, an active merchants' group and improvements in streets, sidewalks and business places. A local feed mill operator Dickey called Lisbon "a nice place in which to live and do business."

Commenting on the Chamber's lack of success in attracting industries Dickey cited competition from other communities with industrial parks and utilities already installed for new industry.

The president said a comprehensive plan now being developed for Lisbon with the aid of a federal grant will be a guide for village officials and business interests.

Thirl Flugan street commissioner outlined his plans for Christmas lighting around the Square. He said there will be no lights along the streets in the business district this holiday season. William Hannahan discussed Christmas advertising and store hours.

Harold Pickering showed flagholders being made by the welding class at the high school. Merchants plan to attach them to parking meters in front of their stores and display the flag each day the weather is satisfactory.

Merchants said they discontinued putting out the flags in holes at the edge of the sidewalks because cars backing into parking places broke the poles.

The merchants welcomed Andy Rubish pharmacist at Hamilton Drugstore and William Howell owner of the court restaurant.

The group voted to meet on the first Tuesday of each month beginning in January.

interim permit for temporary racing at Pocono Downs.

The four licenses are the maximum under existing legislation.

Chairman Roy Wilkinson of the racing commission said his agency had agreed to ask the legislature to authorize issuance of a fifth license.

As another alternative, Wilkinson suggested that perhaps one or more of the racing associations receiving licenses might not want to meet the stipulations laid down. In that event, he said, "we could offer a license to someone else."

This was in apparent reference to Western Pennsylvania, where a harness track is located near Washington.

Those newly licensed thoroughbred associations desiring to begin racing next year on existing harness tracks presumably would have to coordinate their dates with harness dates already approved by the Harness Racing Commission.

Assigned trotting dates at Liberty Bell for next year are Feb. 13 to May 10, and Sept. 5 to Nov. 1. Pocono's dates are June 28 to Sept. 8.

Makes Actors, Directors, Writers Great

An 'Appetite For Life'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Most actors, directors and writers have both an appetite for life and a built-in capacity for self-destruction," said Joseph Losey.

"It is the appetite for life that makes them great, and it is the impulse to self-destruction that makes them difficult people to deal with."

At 59 Losey, tall, blue-eyed, rugged-featured, is one of the most notable film directors of his generation, but better known in Europe now than in his native America.

He feels the pressure of the industry is particularly frustrating to writers.

"They suffer from what is now fashionably known as terminal anxiety," he said cheerfully. "Most writers are afraid to start on a project, and then are afraid to finish it when they get to the end."

Diagnosis of a situation comes naturally to Losey. Born in La Crosse, Wis., his first choice of a career was medicine. But at Dartmouth College and later as a graduate student at Harvard he was permanently sidetracked by a developing interest in the drama.

After a brief fling as a free-lance journalist, theatrical trade paper reporter and radio writer, at 23 he directed his first Broadway play, "Little Ol' Boy," which launched Burgess Meredith as an actor. He also served briefly as first stage manager for the Radio City Music Hall here.

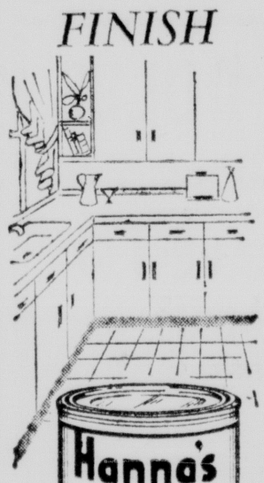

Since then he has directed a dozen plays, several documentary films, 22 feature films and more than 200 television commercials.

"I can earn more making the commercials," he said frankly, "but they chiefly serve me as a financial means of being able to refuse to make the films I don't want to do. I love making pictures, and I've never yet made one I didn't wish to."

Losey began to become something of a cult figure in European movie-making after he migrated to England in 1952, where he has won 16 international awards for the British film industry. Among his best known films are "The Servant," "King and Country," "The Accident," and "The Boy with the Green Hair," all but the last of which were made abroad.

His latest directorial effort is "Secret Ceremony," starring Elizabeth Taylor, Mia Farrow and Robert Mitchum.

ANN LANDERS

Don't Blame The Marines

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Is it true that, if an officer in the United States Marines gets a divorce, it goes on his service record and his chances for a promotion drop to zero?

This seems unjust, yet I'm told it's the unwritten law of the Marines.

When there's no love or respect and the wife is a sloppy, dull bore and the husband is staying with her only for the sake of the children, wouldn't it be better for everyone if they parted? Isn't a divorce more honorable (Marine or not) than living a lie?

Why would a branch of the service have such an unfair hold on its men? What do you make of it?—CAN'T FIGURE IT.

Dear Can't: I make of it you've been going with a married Marine who has no intentions of divorcing his wife to marry you. That unwritten law is a lulu. He dreamed it up just for you, Doll.

Off Limits

Dear Ann: Thank you for the column in which you said: "People go to the hospital because they're sick, not because they're lonesome. Do your hospitalized friends and relatives a favor. Leave them alone."

I've made up my mind that if I land in the hospital again I'll post a big sign on my door - no visitors. And there'll be no phone in my room.

The day I was operated on, friends and family phoned me an hour after I had been wheeled up from the recovery room.

My cousin was the first to call. The nurse said, "Mrs. X can't talk to you. She's just coming out of the anesthetic." My cousin replied, "She doesn't have to talk—all she has to do is listen. I want to tell her something."

Then she rambled on and on about some crazy thing her little nephew said.

The day after surgery three visitors came and talked their fool heads off. It took me twice as long to recover because I had to use energy being pleasant when I should have been resting and getting my strength back.

You ought to rerun that column every year, Ann. It would be a national service. — ARABELLA.

Dear A: I'm glad you liked it. So did hundreds of nurses and physicians. Thanks to all of you who said so.

Wild Dream

Dear Ann: I've had some very disturbing dreams lately. I dream of being intimate with the butcher, the garage mechanic, the TV repairman and even the paperboy. I'm a respectable married woman, mid-30s, wilh a fine family. I have no interest in anyone other than my husband. My dreams have made me feel unworthy and I'm filled with guilt. Can you explain this?—ASHAMED TO SLEEP.

Dear Ashamed: Dreams are uncensored thoughts and desires that get loose in the unconscious. Freud said they are the disguised fulfillment of repressed wishes.

Robert Lewis Stevenson once wrote, "We all have feelings that would shame hell." Some of those feelings come out in our dreams. But it's how we conduct ourselves, not what we dream, that counts. The fact that you are ashamed of your dreams indicates that you would probably never do, in your waking hours, the things you dream about.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Commemorates Birthday Of RFK

Kennedy Clan To Mourn Loss Of Late President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy family has commemorated the birthday of one slain son. Friday they mourn the murder of another.

The Roman Catholic priest who administered last rites to President John F. Kennedy, assassinated Nov. 22, 1963, celebrates a Mass in Dallas Friday.

Mass will also be recited in churches near the Georgetown home used by President Kennedy before moving into the White House and in New York, where his widow, Jacqueline Onassis, lives.

Mrs. Onassis went to St. Thomas More's Church Wednesday for one of two New York masses in memory of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who would have been 43 Wednesday.

The youngest and sole survivor of the four Kennedy sons—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy—visited Arlington National Cemetery Wednesday with some of his and Robert's children.

With the early morning autumn sun spilling over their backs, the seven kneeled in prayer at the small white cross marking Robert's grave and at the eternal flame marking John's.

Later Edward went to a Mass in memory of Robert at St. Luke's Church in McLean, Va.

The service, reminiscent of the New York Requiem Mass sung after the senator was shot last June in Los Angeles, included a Jewish cantor and vocal solos with guitar accompaniment.

Two of the senator's sons, David, 13, and Michael, 10, served as altar boys.

Their mother, Ethel, remained in the family's nearby Hickory Hill home under doctors' orders. She is awaiting the birth of her 11th child.

Attending the New York Mass at the Church of the Holy Family were Edward's wife, Joan; Kennedy sisters, Jean Smith and Pat Lawford, and several of the former president's New Frontier advisers.

Archbishop Terence Cooke celebrated the Mass.

Another Kennedy sister, Eunice Shriver, and her husband, Sargent, dedicated the Place du President Kennedy Wednesday at Angers, France.

The Very Rev. Oscar L. Huber will celebrate the Mass in Dallas Friday, but there will be no special observances at Dealey Plaza, near where Kennedy was shot.

A $100,000 memorial two blocks from the Plaza won't be completed until sometime after next October.

Truck, Auto Casings Are Stolen Here

An undetermined quantity of truck and auto casings was stolen from the Litten Tire Shop on the River Rd. in a burglary between 5:30 p. m. Wednesday and 5 a. m. today, police reported.

Ralph Smith of 139 W. 4th St., an employe, discovered the entry when he reported for work. Officers said an inventory will be taken to determine the extent of the loss.

The intruder tore away a wire mesh screen and then smashed a 36-by-48-inch window on the northeast corner of the building to gain entry, officers said.

A very active person can give off as much as five gallons of perspiration in a day.

Apollo 8 Spacemen Disagree With Briton On Moon Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts don't agree with a prominent British astronomer who says their moon orbit flight, from a scientific view, is dangerous, silly and wasteful.

The transatlantic dispute started Wednesday when Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, said in an interview:

"On a scientific basis this project is wasteful and silly. We've reached the stage with automatic landings when it's not necessary to risk human life to get information about the moon."

Speaking for the three Apollo 8 astronauts, Air Force Maj. William A. Anders told newsmen Wednesday night:

"We obviously don't agree with him. We are flying primarily an operational mission and we strongly feel that a manned platform in lunar orbit with the operational equipment we have can add significant bits and pieces to scientific knowledge.

"The old engineers on the railroads probably said the airplane would never work either."

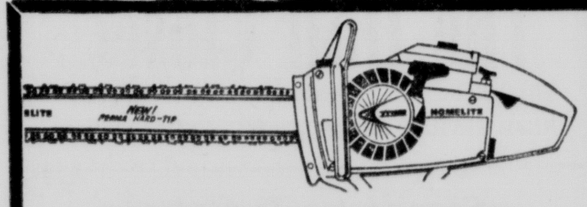

Anders, Air Force Col. Frank Borman and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. are scheduled to rocket toward the moon Dec. 21 on a six-day mission in which they are to orbit 69 miles above the lunar surface for 20 hours on Christmas Eve and part of Christmas Day.

The astronaut noted the main goal of the Apollo 8 mission is to test the spaceship and to learn something about flying in the vicinity of the moon, but that many scienific rewards were possible.

Anders said Apollo 8 will be able to photograph in detail an area in the Sea of Tranquillity considered a prime landing spot for astronauts next year.

He said ground trackers are not certain of the precise orbit path of Apollo ships because the moon, like the earth, is not perfectly round, which could lead to landing errors of up to 45 miles.

"The more we learn about the moon's gravitational field and how to navigate in it," he said, "the less will be our error when astronauts try to land."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Insurance wants more specifics on why the State Farm Insurance Co. hiked its auto insurance rates last Friday.

30 At Oberlin College End Hunger Strike

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Oberlin College students have ended a hunger strike which they staged to protest the Vietnam war and resumption of military recruiting on the campus.

About 30 students started the fast last Thursday night, announcing that they would diet only on water and vitamin pills as an expression of their protest. The number had risen to more than 50 by Saturday, but only 15 still were fasting when the strike ended Wednesday.

"Some people got very sick and some were scared that something would happen to them," said John Field, a senior from Harrison, N. Y., one of the leaders of the strike.

The fasters never stated clearly the terms they would accept to end their protest but they indocated that they would settle for reconsideration by the faculty of its vote on Nov. 5 which led Dr. Robert Carr, president of the college, to allow resumption of military recruiting on the campus.

William R. Hedges, a senior from Ponca, Ark., and one of the hunger strike leaders, said he was confident that a motion to reconsider would be made at the faculty's meeting Nov. 27 or Dec. 3.

"Our goals had been achieved in terms of mobilizing students and getting the faculty to talk about the issue," he said.

A representative of the Student Senate has announced that a student referendum on the war and military recruiting would be conducted next Wednesday. He said 446 students signed the petition for the referendum with the understanding that it would not be binding on the college.

Only Question Centers On Muskie

Democratic Leaders Seen Holding Congress Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Democratic leaders of the last Congress appear certain to keep their posts in the new one with the only real leadership question centering on what part—if any—will be played by Maine's Edmund Muskie.

Liberal Democrats in the Senate plan to sound out Muskie, the party's unsuccessful vice presidential candidate, on getting into the race for whip or assistant leader.

So far, however, no definite plans have been made to try to unseat Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the present Democratic whip.

A spokesman for the liberals, unwilling to be quoted, told a reporter they hope to find out shortly whether Muskie is willing to challenge Long.

Long, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, has sent a letter to all his Democratic colleagues saying he was proud to have been part of the party leadership for the last four years and hoped to continue in it.

Long's supporters say they believe he can count on 30 votes when the 58 Democratic senators caucus to elect their leaders for the new Congress.

Liberals do not contend it would be easy to oust Long as assistant to Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana—who faces no challenge to his own position. But they say they have a chance if Muskie can be prevailed on to run for the post.

Some Democratic senators have shown signs of not being too happy with Long as whip, partly because of run-ins he has had with Mansfield on the Senate floor.

Liberals also maintain that Muskie's selection as whip would give their segment of the party a representation in the Senate leadership that it does not have now.

Mansfield is regarded as a moderate while Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, who holds the No. 3 Democratic leadership post, has aligned himself with Southern conservatives on many issues.

After sampling the views of key members, leaders of the liberal bloc in the House have spread the word they will have nothing to do with any move to unseat speaker John N. McCormich when the 91st Congress opens in January.

McCormack, who will be 77 next month, has been speaker for seven years and is assured of another term.

Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., is majority leader and enjoys broad enough support to hold his job and to move up without too much opposition if the speakership becomes vacant in the near future.

The job the liberals have their eye on is that of the party whip, next in line below the majority leader and now held by Rep. Hale Boggs.

If there is a leadership fight before McCormack steps down it will be over the whip post. And if Albert moves up, the fight will be to keep Boggs from becoming majority leader.

Such a fight is not expected soon, however. The immediate goal of the liberals is to get a voice in the assigning of committee chairmen and hopefully place two of their own on the Un-American Activities and Judiciary groups.

The first U. S. Congress, under the Constitution, met in New York City, and it was during this congressional session that George Washington was declared president of the United States in 1789.

Report Given Kaycee Unit By Baldasare

He reviewed the changes in the K. of C. rituals and commended the council and its officers for progress achieved since being organized about 2½ years ago.

The council went on record as supporting the move for immediate replacement of the Chester bridge and further study and action on approaching roads and highways.

Frank Arcuri, grand knight who presided and led prayer, read a letter from the state deputy, who urged that the membership drive be intensified. A letter also was received from Fr. William H. Hohman, former pastor of the church and former council chaplain, thanking the group for its farewell gift.

Reports were given by Vincent E. Ferlaino, Catholic Action chairman, and Richard Ruble, youth chairman. The statewide youth campaign will end Saturday, Ruble announced.

Plans were made for the Christmas party Dec. 21 at the Holidy Inn at Waterford Park. John Yanni is chairman. The next meeting will be Dec. 3 at 7:30 p. m.

day at 6:18 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. 40 feet east of Wedgewood St.

A 1967 model convertible driven by Fred J. McWhorter, 22, of 58 4th St., Midland, was hit from the rear by a 1966 two-door sedan operated by Deborah D. Sanford, 17, of Meredith St., Dixonville.

The woman was taken to City Hospital for treatment of a cut upper lip. McWhorter drove to the hospital in his own car, complaining of a whiplash injury, officers said.

Both cars were westbound. McWhorter said he was slowing to turn into a used car lot when the accident occurred. The Sanford car left 50 feet of skid marks on the pavement, officers said.

An East End man escaped injury early today when his auto went off the River Rd. 80 feet west of State St., climbed an embankment and then halted in a ditch, police said.

The 1955 four-door sedan driven by Frank Duncan, 33, 1235 St. George St. went off the roadway about 12:28 a. m. He was cited by Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon on charges of driving at speeds in excess of road conditions.

Duncan said he was rounding a turn, headed toward East End, when his car went across the center line into the path of an oncoming truck. He said he steered sharply to the right to avoid a collision and his vehicle went off the roadway.

The car traveled about 80 feet along the side of the embankment and then descended to the foot of the grade and halted in a ditch, officers said. Dillon discovered the mishap while on routine patrol.

Duncan was fined $25 and costs today by Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp.

Meanwhile, William R. Stover, 43, of Chester RD 1 reported to police Wednesday that his auto skidded on an icy patch Tuesday night on the approach to the Chester Bridge and hit the superstructure of the span. The mishap damaged the front bumper, left front fender and grill of the 1964 car, he said.

Students Call For End Of Czech Sit-Ins

PRAGUE (AP) — Leaders of 100,000 students striking to protest loss of their new freedoms in this Soviet-occupied nation called for an end to their massive sit-ins at noon today as Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders appealed to workers not to join the protest.

The strike leaders earlier had announced a 24-hour extension of their three-day-old protest, prolonging it to 8 p.m. tonight. Then they announced the extension would be cut to 16 hours.

Shortly after reports that token sympathy strikes were being launched in a number of industrial plants, the presidiums of the Communist party, the government, the National Assembly and the Trades Union Council issued a joint declaration charging that "irresponsible people" were trying to "divide the working class."

The leadership appealed for the protesters to "stop in time the danger which is threatening us."

The students holed up in their school buildings after the government banned street demonstrations during the meeting last weekend of the Communist party Central Committee. Although the government made no move to clear the buildings, it said the strike was an improper method of expressing opinion.

The students were trying to rally support against the Central Committee's abandonment of such reforms as press freedom, freedom of assembly and the right of unrestricted foreign travel.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Sweater 'Scarecrows'

DEAR FOLKS: For years I've been washing, drying and stretching sweaters. I've used every idea, and tried to figure out how to eliminate that crease across the shoulders which I think is unsightly.

Heloise

Read on pals

After washing and then rinsing a sweater in vinegar water (this takes any odor out), I squeezed it real good. I did not wring it or twist it.

Then I threw it up in the air about 10 times and caught it with my hands each time. Imagine that! I didn't drop it.

This allows the air to get back in the knit and brings back the original shape and spreads what little moisture is left among the fibers — which is good. And most important.

I then took my broom and literally threaded the sweater on its handle through one sleeve, passed the neck and out the other sleeve!

This funny looking "scarecrow" I put across my clotheslines.

Since then I have learned that I can cut off a broom or an old mop handle, stack 'em up in a corner and use 'em for drying many things — quilted housecoats, babies' padded jackets, drip-dry shirts, and etc.

Gals, this way they dry with no crease at all. And dry quicker because air gets inside.

Cane fishing poles are also marvelous for this because you can hang more than one garment on the same pole.

And you don't have to cut the mop or broom off the end either. Sometimes I just use mine as is.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Often I make a double batch of cookies and divide the dough into portions large enough to make a pan full of cookies. Then I give a package of unbaked dough to my mother and mother-in-law to store in their freezers.

That way they can have a variety of cookies on hand to be freshly baked anytime they want.

Frozen cookie dough in small packages takes little time to thaw out. For hurry-up occasions, just slice the frozen dough with a sharp knife, put on pan frozen and bake a few minutes longer than usual.

MRS. GORDON THOMAS.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day while drying one of my clear-glass flower bowls with a colored paper towel, I realized what a help it would be to have some color in all my clear bowls and vases. Because, when stored on the shelf, they are sometimes hard to see when several are placed together.

So I left the paper towel in when I put it on the shelf. Now it's so easy to tell if I have stored one inside the other.

MRS. G.D.T.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: When I was just a new bride, we were having comany for dinner and I was preparing T-bone steaks.

My big mistake was that I got cornmeal out instead of flour. I came up with a very odd dish. My guests thought at first they were eating fish!

I have been married seven years now and my husband and our friends still get a big laugh about our "T-bone fish".

MARTHA SUE RING.

DEAR FOLKS: Many of us like to cook our own cranberries along about "turkey time". And some of us like 'em strained and some don't!

So why not try putting them through your food chopper before you ever cook the berries. I found this to be great. Lots more juice if you strain them, and for those who don't, they even spread nicer on hot breads.

The cranberries may be chopped a day or two before the holiday and set aside in your refrig. Saves time.

HELOISE.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Sweater 'Scarecrows'

DEAR FOLKS: For years I've been washing, drying and stretching sweaters. I've used every idea, and tried to figure out how to eliminate that crease across the shoulders which I think is unsightly.

Heloise

Read on pals

After washing and then rinsing a sweater in vinegar water (this takes any odor out), I squeezed it real good. I did not wring it or twist it.

Then I threw it up in the air about 10 times and caught it with my hands each time. Imagine that! I didn't drop it.

This allows the air to get back in the knit and brings back the original shape and spreads what little moisture is left among the fibers — which is good. And most important.

I then took my broom and literally threaded the sweater on its handle through one sleeve, passed the neck and out the other sleeve!

This funny looking "scarecrow" I put across my clothes-lines.

Since then I have learned that I can cut off a broom or an old mop handle, stack 'em up in a corner and use 'em for drying many things — quilted housecoats, babies' padded jackets, drip-dry shirts, and etc.

Gals, this way they dry with no crease at all. And dry quicker because air gets inside.

Cane fishing poles are also marvelous for this because you can hang more than one garment on the same pole.

And you don't have to cut the mop or broom off the end either. Sometimes I just use mine as is.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Often I make a double batch of cookies and divide the dough into portions large enough to make a pan full of cookies. Then I give a package of unbaked dough to my mother and mother-in-law to store in their freezers.

That way they can have a variety of cookies on hand to be freshly baked anytime they want.

Frozen cookie dough in small packages takes little time to thaw out. For hurry-up occasions, just slice the frozen dough with a sharp knife, put on pan frozen and bake a few minutes longer than usual.

MRS. GORDON THOMAS.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day while drying one of my clear-glass flower bowls with a colored paper towel, I realized what a help it would be to have some color in all my clear bowls and vases. Because, when stored on the shelf, they are sometimes hard to see when several are placed together.

So I left the paper towel in when I put it on the shelf. Now it's so easy to tell if I have stored one inside the other.

MRS. G.D.T.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: When I was just a new bride, we were having comany for dinner and I was preparing T-bone steaks.

My big mistake was that I got cornmeal out instead of flour. I came up with a very odd dish. My guests thought at first they were eating fish!

I have been married seven years now and my husband and our friends still get a big laugh about our "T-bone fish".

MARTHA SUE RING.

DEAR FOLKS: Many of us like to cook our own cranberries along about "turkey time". And some of us like 'em strained and some don't!

So why not try putting them through your food chopper before you ever cook the berries. I found this to be great. Lots more juice if you strain them, and for those who don't, they even spread nicer on hot breads.

The cranberries may be chopped a day or two before the holiday and set aside in your refrig. Saves time.

HELOISE.

Midland Man Fined, Placed On Probation

A Midland tavern owner was fined and placed on probation in Beaver County Court Wednesday for permitting an "obscene exhibition."

Victor Liberatore of 325 Midland Ave., owner of the Cantina Bar at the same address, was fined $1,000 and costs and placed on two - year probation on the charge stemming from a raid made during the summer by Pennsylvania state police.

An officer testified to the court that he observed "go-go" girls presenting obscene dances in the nude.

Liberatore had pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 12.

In fixing the sentence, Judge John N. Sawyer told Liberatore he was inclined to invoke the maximum fine of $1,500, but said he was informed by police officers that he, Liberatore, had made a "feeble attempt to halt the show."

"Any future violations and the probation will be revoked. The court takes a stern view of this activity, carried on for profit. There is no excuse for this type of activity," Judge Sawyer said.

Two dancers were arrested during the raid. They were fined at hearings earlier this year.

Ursu Gains 8 Votes In 64-Precinct Count

BULLETIN

LISBON—By 11 this morning, County Engineer John Ursu had acquired a net gain of 19 votes in the recount of results of his race with Bert A. Dawson Jr. of East Liverpool.

County Engineer John Ursu of Salem, Democrat, showed a net gain of eight votes when the County Election Board completed work Wednesday night on a recount of 64 southern county precincts in the Nov. 5 election race in which he was defeated by Bert A. Dawson Jr. of East Liverpool, Republican.

The see-sawing figures ended up with a gain of seven votes in Ursu's total and a loss of one for Dawson, representing a net gain of eight for the incumbent. He is seeking to overcome the 182-vote margin by which Dawson unseated him, according to the official canvass of returns.

The Election Board and its staff and temporary employes moved today to its office in the Hill Building at Lisbon to continue the recount. The new tabulation there will cover the county's remaining 106 precincts. The task may be completed by Friday night or Saturday.

The official canvass figures on the 64 southern county precincts gave Dawson 8,268 and Ursu 6,170.

When the recount was finished in the 64 precincts, the new totals were Dawson, 8,267, and Ursu, 6,177.

Ursu must pick up an overall average of more than one vote per precinct in order to overturn the result of the election.

Law allows him to halt the recount upon written application at any time, provided he is not ahead when the application is filed.

The Election Board began the recount Wednesday morning at 9 in its East Liverpool office. The work was completed about 6 last night. Two counting teams were employed at the outset. Later, three precincts were recounted simultaneously.

The official canvass figures, certified Nov. 12, credited Dawson with 20,677 votes and gave Ursu 20,495. He filed for a recount the following day.

A GAS DRYER SAVES A LOT MORE THAN MONEY

A modern, dependable Gas dryer saves in so many ways. Time, for instance. No more clothes line hang-ups. No waiting for the sun to shine. Think of all the things you can do with the time you save. And a Gas dryer saves Mom the back aches of lugging loads of laundry to and from a long, long clothes line. No more bending and stretching.

Not only does a Gas clothes dryer save wear and tear on Mom, it saves wear and tear on clothes. A Gas dryer tumble dries the most delicate clothes safely . . . gently. They come out soft, fluffy, sweet-smelling as a day in May.

And of course, since a penny-a-load Gas dryer does the job for a fraction of the cost of drying clothes with electricity, you can figure it'll save well over $100 in operating costs over the life of the dryer.

A gas dryer is a time saver, a clothes saver, a Mom saver and a money saver.

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE WITH GAS.

Midland Man Fined, Placed On Probation

A Midland tavern owner was fined and placed on probation in Beaver County Court Wednesday for permitting an "obscene exhibition."

Victor Liberatore of 325 Midland Ave., owner of the Cantina Bar at the same address, was fined $1,000 and costs and placed on two - year probation on the charge stemming from a raid made during the summer by Pennsylvania state police.

An officer testified to the court that he observed "go-go" girls presenting obscene dances in the nude.

Liberatore had pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 12.

In fixing the sentence, Judge John N. Sawyer told Liberatore he was inclined to invoke the maximum fine of $1,500, but said he was informed by police officers that he, Liberatore, had made a "feeble attempt to halt the show."

"Any future violations and the probation will be revoked. The court takes a stern view of this activity, carried on for profit. There is no excuse for this type of activity," Judge Sawyer said.

Two dancers were arrested during the raid. They were fined at hearings earlier this year.

Ursu Gains 8 Votes In 64-Precinct Count

BULLETIN

LISBON—By 11 this morning, County Engineer John Ursu had acquired a net gain of 19 votes in the recount of results of his race with Bert A. Dawson Jr. of East Liverpool.

County Engineer John Ursu of Salem, Democrat, showed a net gain of eight votes when the County Election Board completed work Wednesday night on a recount of 64 southern county precincts in the Nov. 5 election race in which he was defeated by Bert A. Dawson Jr. of East Liverpool, Republican.

The see-sawing figures ended up with a gain of seven votes in Ursu's total and a loss of one for Dawson, representing a net gain of eight for the incumbent. He is seeking to overcome the 182-vote margin by which Dawson unseated him, according to the official canvass of returns.

The Election Board and its staff and temporary employes moved today to its office in the Hill Building at Lisbon to continue the recount. The new tabulation there will cover the county's remaining 106 precincts. The task may be completed by Friday night or Saturday.

The official canvass figures on the 64 southern county precincts gave Dawson 8,268 and Ursu 6,170.

When the recount was finished in the 64 precincts, the new totals were Dawson, 8,267, and Ursu, 6,177.

Ursu must pick up an overall average of more than one vote per precinct in order to overturn the result of the election.

Law allows him to halt the recount upon written application at any time, provided he is not ahead when the application is filed.

The Election Board began the recount Wednesday morning at 9 in its East Liverpool office. The work was completed about 6 last night. Two counting teams were employed at the outset. Later, three precincts were recounted simultaneously.

The official canvass figures, certified Nov. 12, credited Dawson with 20,677 votes and gave Ursu 20,495. He filed for a recount the following day.

A GAS DRYER SAVES A LOT MORE THAN MONEY

A modern, dependable Gas dryer saves in so many ways. Time, for instance. No more clothes line hang-ups. No waiting for the sun to shine. Think of all the things you can do with the time you save. And a Gas dryer saves Mom the back aches of lugging loads of laundry to and from a long, long clothes line. No more bending and stretching.

Not only does a Gas clothes dryer save wear and tear on Mom, it saves wear and tear on clothes. A Gas dryer tumble dries the most delicate clothes safely . . . gently. They come out soft, fluffy, sweet-smelling as a day in May.

And of course, since a penny-a-load Gas dryer does the job for a fraction of the cost of drying clothes with electricity, you can figure it'll save well over $100 in operating costs over the life of the dryer.

A gas dryer is a time saver, a clothes saver, a Mom saver and a money saver.

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE WITH GAS.

Black Student Group Expected Back At Kent U.

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Some 300 black students were expected to return to Kent State University today following an announcement that charges will not be pressed against students who took part in a campus demonstration last week.

The Negro students, members of the Black United Students organization, left campus Monday night when the university administration refused to accede to their demands for amnesty.

But after an announcement by Dr. Robert I. White that charges would not be pressed against demonstrators the striking students were expected to return.

White said black students would be most welcome to return to the campus. He promised a greater effort at communications with the students, including some direct contact with the university president's office.

About 200 black and white students took part in a sit-in Nov. 13 at the university to protest the presence of Oakland, Calif., police department recruiters.

When the university said disorderly conduct charges would be pressed against some of the demonstrators the black students staged their walkout.

White said Wednesday he would invite the Ohio Civil Rights Commission to investigate the situation at the university.

He said it had been decided to drop the question of pressing charges against demonstrators after university attorneys advised that evidence against the protestors was not sufficient to justify charges.

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — The new Ohio River bridge at Henderson, replacing the fallen Silver Bridge, should be completed by next fall, according to a State Road Commission official.

The construction, he said, is "about on schedule."

Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., and John L. Sweeney, assistant secretary of the U.S. Transportation Department, visited the construction site with Dorsey Wednesday.

Foes Of Busing As Means Of Integration Lose Vote

By JOHN L. TAYLOR

HARRISBURG (AP) — Opponents of busing as a means of school integration lost a showdown vote in the House Wednesday when a bill to curb the powers of the Human Relations Commission failed to relieve a constitutional majority.

Although the bill received 94 affirmative votes to 67 negative votes, it fell 10 votes short of passage, since 102 are required in the 203-member House.

The measure would have taken away from the commission authority to require school districts to racially balance their schools, which in some areas has resulted in busing.

Sponsored by Rep. Joseph Dorsey, R-Delaware, the bill would have limited the powers of the commission to advisiry only in dealing with so-called de facto segregation.

Dorsey maintained that many schools are racially imbalanced because neighborhoods are racially imbalanced, and that the only practical way to desegregate some schools is through busing.

"I have not found one person who favors that children be bussed from their neighborhood schools to other schools," Drsey said.

The floor fight to defeat the bill was led by House Minority Whip K. Leroy Irvis, D-Allegheny, who said an end to racially imbalanced schools was a step toward better race relations.

"Busing may be the alternative to revolution...," the Negro lawmaker said. "The concept of the neighborhood school belongs to the 19th century, not the 20th century.

The Human Relations Commission, given its authority by a State Supreme Court opinion, ordered 17 school districts to submit desegregation plans earlier this year.

Although most of the districts already have complied, extensions were granted to others, including Philadelphia where proposed busing has become a heated issue.

Action was light in the Senate, which was waiting on the House to dispose of a package of bills to implement a new judiciary section of the state constituion.

The House passed two of the 14 bills in the package, and hoped to take up the remainder today. Lawmakers planned to wind up the 1967-68 session on Friday.

In other key legislative developments:

Philadelphia — The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would abolish the elected office of constable in the city of Philadelphia. The vote was 164-36.

Liquor—The House defeated, 39-123, a bill that would have allowed 3-day liquor licenses for such private social events as church bazaars and fire company picnics.

Minors — The House also defeated a measure that would have allowed minors accompanied by adults to attend harness races, but not wager. The vote was 43-119.

Pittsburgh — Legislation to authorize a 6-mill increase in the real estate tax in Pittsburgh cleared the House and was headed for Gov. Shafer.

Insurance — The House gave its unanimous approval to a bill that would prohibit the waiver of the uninsured motorists's clause in automobile insurance contracts.

Foes Of Busing As Means Of Integration Lose Vote

By JOHN L. TAYLOR

HARRISBURG (AP) — Opponents of busing as a means of school integration lost a showdown vote in the House Wednesday when a bill to curb the powers of the Human Relations Commission failed to relieve a constitutional majority.

Although the bill received 94 affirmative votes to 67 negative votes, it fell 10 votes short of passage, since 102 are required in the 203-member House.

The measure would have taken away from the commission authority to require school districts to racially balance their schools, which in some areas has resulted in busing.

Sponsored by Rep. Joseph Dorsey, R-Delaware, the bill would have limited the powers of the commission to advisiry only in dealing with so-called de facto segregation.

Dorsey maintained that many schools are racially imbalanced because neighborhoods are racially imbalanced, and that the only practical way to desegregate some schools is through busing.

"I have not found one person who favors that children be bussed from their neighborhood schools to other schools," Drsey said.

The floor fight to defeat the bill was led by House Minority Whip K. Leroy Irvis, D-Allegheny, who said an end to racially imbalanced schools was a step toward better race relations.

"Busing may be the alternative to revolution...," the Negro lawmaker said. "The concept of the neighborhood school belongs to the 19th century, not the 20th century.

The Human Relations Commission, given its authority by a State Supreme Court opinion, ordered 17 school districts to submit desegregation plans earlier this year.

Although most of the districts already have complied, extensions were granted to others, including Philadelphia where proposed busing has become a heated issue.

Action was light in the Senate, which was waiting on the House to dispose of a package of bills to implement a new judiciary section of the state constituion.

The House passed two of the 14 bills in the package, and hoped to take up the remainder today. Lawmakers planned to wind up the 1967-68 session on Friday.

In other key legislative developments:

Philadelphia — The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would abolish the elected office of constable in the city of Philadelphia. The vote was 164-36.

Liquor—The House defeated, 39-123, a bill that would have allowed 3-day liquor licenses for such private social events as church bazaars and fire company picnics.

Minors — The House also defeated a measure that would have allowed minors accompanied by adults to attend harness races, but not wager. The vote was 43-119.

Pittsburgh — Legislation to authorize a 6-mill increase in the real estate tax in Pittsburgh cleared the House and was headed for Gov. Shafer.

Insurance — The House gave its unanimous approval to a bill that would prohibit the waiver of the uninsured motorists's clause in automobile insurance contracts.

Commissioner Race Reversed In Recount

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—A recount of votes cast Nov. 5 has resulted in reversal of the outcome of a race for Champaign County commissioner.

The recount gave Republican incumbent William C. Bauer a 15-vote margin over Democrat Robert M. Ward. The original tally had Ward winning by 27 votes.

Nugent Back From Vietnam

Pat, Luci, Lyn Reunited After Nearly 8 Months

HONOLULU (AP) — Airman 1C. Patrick J. Nugent was greeted with a hug and a kiss from his wife and a shy salute from his 17-month-old son Wednesday as they were reunited after nearly eight months.

The salute from son Lyn was President Johnson's idea, said Mrs. Nugent, the President's younger daughter.

And the hug and kiss? Well, said Luci, 21, she had not rehearsed anything to say to her husband, 25, who arrived with about 100 other U.S. servicemen on leave from Vietnam.

Asked about their plans for his week-long stay in the islands, Luci said: "It depends on what my husband wants to do. He's the boss of the family."

She arrived a week ago and said the long wait was "the most glorious waiting period a woman could have." Holding Lyn, she stood in a double line at Ft. Derussy in Waikiki with other servicemen's wives waiting to see their husbands.

Nugent arrived on a gray military bus from Honolulu International Airport and walked down the long line lokking for his family.

After his parents embraced, Lyn, dressed in a model of his dad's uniform, gave his salute.

Nugent said he has "about 4½ months to go" in the war zone. But he doesn't know when he will be able to leave the Air Force. He is a load master in the 309th Operations Squadron.

Asked what he plans to do when he gets out of the service, Nugent said he may go back to the Johnson family ,television station in Austin, Tex.

"I'll be one of you all," he told newsmen.

In Washington, President Johnson's elder daughter, Lynda, said she plans a similar reunion with her husband, Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb, sometime in mid-December.

Mrs. Robb, 24, said the reunion probably will be in Hawaii, but she declined to say exactly where.

"I want as much privacy as we can get," she said.

First person in history to declare that the earth is round was the ancient Greek philosopher, mathematician and religious reformer, Pythagoras (circa 582-500 B. C.).

Mayor Stanley Cmich said he would meet again with representatives of Canton City Lines, Inc., and Teamsters Local 489 "within several days," but did not specify when.

The srtike by 66 bus drivers and mechanics began Monday after negotiations on a new two-year contract broke down. The old pact expired Oct. 31.

Gifts Sought For Those On Welfare Care

LISBON — The Columbiana County Welfare Department has launched its annual appeal for funds with which to buy a Christmas present for each of the 200 children under its care.

Cincinnati U. may not win too many football games, but it loses excitingly.

After the statistics from the 60-48 loss to Ohio U. were compiled, the Bearcats were the top passing team in the country, the eighth best in total offense and 11th best in scoring. Individually, Greg Cook took over as the leader in total offense and ranked second in passing, and Jim O'Brien took over as the leading scorer, 17 points ahead of West Texas' Eugene (Mercury) Morris. O'Brien is third in scoring by kicking, with 65 kicking points to go with 11TDs. Tom Rossley is second in pass receiving and Benny Rhoads fifth in punting.

The other Ohio statistical leadership surprisingly belongs to Kent State. The Golden Flashes are tops in pass defense. The Mid-American Conference is not a passing conference, as Toledo is fifth, Western Michigan sixth and Bowling Green seventh in pass defense. Miami is third in total defense, fifth in rushing defense and second in scoring defense.

PENN STATE is eighth in rushing defense and seventh in scoring defense. Xavier is fifth in punting.

Ohio's two unbeaten powers, Ohio State and Ohio U., show up better on offense. The Buckeyes are sixth in total offense, fifth in rushing offense and 12th in scoring. The Bobcats are 12th in rushing and fourth in scoring. Cleve Bryant of OU is sixth in total offense and Mike Sherwood of West Virginia 11th. Sherwood is ninth in passing and Dave Havern of Pitt 25th.

Morris still leads in rushing, with O. V. Simpson second and Michigan's Ron (R. J.) Johnson third. Ron (Po) James of New Brighton and New Mexico State is fifth, Roland Moss of Toledo seventh, Bernie Kress of Dayton 15th and Charlie Pittman of Penn State 22nd.

Al Ippolito of Xavier is seventh in punting, Martin Williams of Marshall 19th and Joe Spicko of Pitt 21st.

Oscar Patrick of West Virginia is 16th in pass receiving, Dick Barnhorst of Xavier 18th, Todd Snyder of Ohio U. 19th and Eddie Jones of Bowling Green 23rd. Bob Houmard of Ohio U. is fifth in scoring, Moss tied for seventh, James 14th and Jim Otis of Ohio State tied for 15th. Ken Crots of Toledo is tied for seventh in scoring by kicking, Bill Pataki of Ohio U. is 13th and Ken Juskowich of West Virginia tied for 22nd. J. D. Lewis of Pitt is sixth in kickoff returns.

In small college statistics, Jeff Petrucci of California (Pa.) State has taken over the lead in total offense. Don Zwisler of Akron is 12th. Chris Myers of Kenyon has moved up to second in receiving. Thiel is fifth in total offense and rushing offense.

FOUR East Liverpool gridders were named to the Warren Western Reserve all-opponent football team. The only team to place more was Canton McKinley. Quarterback Dan Cunningham and guard Denny Brennen were named on offense and tackle Stanley Ice and end Jack Melvin on defense.

Hinkle Speaks At VFD Affair

By TURK PIERCE

Dennis McCarthy, an end, was named the most improved player on the Wellsville football team at the annual appreciation banquet by the Wellsville Volunteer Fire Department at the Wellsville SOI last night.

Clark Hinkle, Toronto native, All-America at Bucknell, all-pro with Green Bay, member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame and currently sports director of WSTV in Steubenville, was the featured speaker. Hinkle said that faith in God, faith in yourself and desire were the three keys to success. He noted you have to pay the price to be a successful athlete, but it is worth it. He also stressed the necessity of a good academic background to get into college.

Hinkle praised Wellsville for being a great football town through the years and said he was glad that football had resumed there after a one-year absence. Hinkle noted that the Upper Ohio Valley is a great football area. He said football is a way of life in the U.S., and that athletics have built up the country more than anything except religion.

Hinkle talked about the early days of the Green Bay franchise, and the efforts of Curly Lambeau to bring fotball there. Hinkle then talked about the era of Vince Lombardi in Green Bay. He noted that Lombardi is very dynamic, very intelligent and has the desire to win. He stated that Lombardi believed in fundamentals in football, appealed to men's minds and was able to inspire men. Lombardi is unique, said Hinkle, and his former assistants, like Bill Austin and Norb Hecker, can't compare to him as head coaches. Spirit is such in Green Bay, said Hinkle, that there are 17,000 applications for season tickets that can't be filled.

Hinkle told of his debut in pro football, against the Chicago Bears. He was playing linebacker, and on the first play was knocked cold by Bear fullback Bronko Nagurski. Hinkle said that was the last time he ever stood still at the moment of contact in a pro game.

Hinkle pointed out the benefits of being a famous athlete. He said that on Dec. 15 the Bears and the Packers will meet for the 100th time and that hall of famers from the two teams would be honored in Chicago.

Gilger told the team that Hinkle was living proof of what a successful athlete can do, and noted that there were players on the Wellsville team with great potential, but that it takes hard work to become a successful athlete.

Andy Lynn served as m.c. of the banquet. Don Miller gave the invocation, Don Crawford and Lee Tice chaired the banquet committee, and the ladies auxiliary prepared and served the excellent meal.

Kuharich Reinstates Ends Ballman, Ditka

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Star pass receivers Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman have been returned to active status by Philadelphia Eagles General Manager and Coach Joe Kuharich, after being suspended Tuesday as "troublemakers."

Kuharich, who announced the reactivation at an afternoon practice session in which both players participated, said the "temporary suspensions of Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman were lifted this (Wednesday) morning after an extensive discussion with both players."

Both Ditka and Ballman, in personal appearances and interviews Monday with sports writers in New York, had criticized the offense of the Eagles, winless this season in 10 National Football League games.

Kuharich said, "There was no need for action of any type after a harmonious conversation relative to recent newspaper commentary."

He charged that "the entire situation was magnified completely out of proportion."

Ditka, an eight-year veteran tight end, was quoted as saying he wanted to return to Philadelphia next season but would not play for Kuharich. The four-time all-pro, acquired two seasons ago from the Chicago Bear insisted that what he said was: Kuharich didn't want him and that he didn't want to play for anyone who didn't want him.

The 28-year-old Ballman, who the Eagles also picked up two years ago in a trade with the Pittsburgh Steelers, said Philadelphia had a stereotyped one-two run and kick offense which disdained the long pass and failed to keep the offense honest.

The suspensions had even brought action from Philadelphia city officials. S. Harry Galfand, city representative and director of commerce, sent a telegram to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. Galfand asked the commissioner to step in and halt a pattern of Eagles' actions "which could be detrimental to the economic success of the city's new $46 million stadium now under construction.

"The Eagles and the NFL have an obligation to the public over and above the game of football," Galfand said in the message which was at the request of Mayor James Tate.

Glenn Hall, Blues Blank Seals 7-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Glenn Hall, a bare-faced goalie for 14 National Hockey League seasons, was relaxing as comfortably as a bare-faced goalie can relax in the St. Louis Blues' dressing room recently when teammate Red Berenson approached him.

"Why," Berenson asked, "don't you wear a mask?"

"I always had an excuse before," Hall reflected. "They were always too uncomfortable. But I had been using one in practice that was fine. I couldn't think of a good answer for Berenson."

So, the brigade of masked goalies had its newest convert. Hall played the 74th shutout of his career Wednesday night and the first behind a face covering as the Blues blanked Oakland 7-0.

In other games, Chicago's Dave Dryden made 40 saves and blanked Minnesota 2-0, Phil Goyette set up three goals and scored the other in New York's 4-2 victory over Los Angeles, Montreal tripped Detroit 3-2 and Toronto dropped Pittsburgh 5-2.

Hall, who appeared in a mask for the first time a week ago in New York and was kicked out of the game after only two minute for sounding off to the referee, played a 3-3 tie in it Sunday before Wednesday night's shutout.

He had plenty of help with Berenson scoring his 11th goal, Frank St. Marseille scoring twice and Terry Crisp picking up three assists against Oakland's rookie goalie, Chris Worthy.

Another rookie, Gerry Desjardins of Los Angeles, had his hands full with Goyette and the Rangers. Desjardins, who shut New York out last time he faced them, faced 51 shots including 23 in the third period when New York rallied for three goals to beat the Kings.

Donnie Marshall, playing his 950th NHL game, scored twice, both times on feeds from Goyette, who also assisted on Harry Howell's tying goal and scored New York's winner.

Dryden kicked out 19 first period shots as Minnesota pressured him early. The Black Hawks took the lead when Gilles Marotte left the penalty box and picked up a lead pass to go in alone on Cesare Maniago. Jim Pappin had Chicago's other goals—his 11th of the season.

Montreal remained one point back of New York in the East Division by nipping Detroit. The Canadiens never trailed with goals by Jean Beliveau and Ralph Backstrom 18 seconds apart in the second period providing a quick 2-0 edge. Yvan Cournoyer 1it for Montreal in the third period while Bob Baun and Bruce MacGregor scored for the Red Wings.

Dryden rallied for four third period goals to drop Pittsburgh deeper in the West Division cellar. The Penguins held a 2-1 edge before Bob Pulford tied the score for the Maple Leafs.

Bullets Keep Slim Lead In Tight NBA East Race

By The Associated Press

How do you keep a torrid race torrid? Simple. Mix a pair of rallies with a rout—at least that's the solution in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division title chase.

Ray Scott fired a late rally that carried Baltimore to a 114-110 conquest of San Diego Wednesday night, and Oscar Robertson and Adrian Smith led a spurt that powered Cincinnati past San Francisco 113-107, while Boston bombed Seattle 139-92.

That left the Eastern race in as much doubt as ever. Baltimore, which has won 10 of its last 11 games, remains first, but Boston is only a half-game behind and third-place Cincinnati is just a game off the pace.

Atlanta knocked off New York 111-106 in a game marked by flaring tempers and flying fists in the NBA's only other scheduled activity.

Jim Barnett, who scored a career high 36 points, sparked a rally that boosted the Rockets from a nine-point deficit in the third quarter to a narrow lead in the final period.

But then Scott, who had managed only six of 17 shots from the floor and only one of eight in the first half, hit three baskets to give Baltimore control.

Robertson and Smith teamed for nine straight points in the second quarter to break a 42-42 deadlock as Cincinnati made the Warriors its 12th victim in 17 games. That spree helped the Royals to an 11-point halftime lead, and San Francisco never caught up.

Robertson finished with 29 points and Nate Thurmond had 27 for the Warriors.

Eight players scored in double figures for Boston with Tom Sanders and John Havlicek leading the way with 21 points each. Rookie Art Harris was high for Seattle with 16.

The Celtics trailed 15-11 halfway through the first period when they went on a 10-point tear and never relinquished the lead. Boston was ahead at halftime 66-51 but the Sonics moved to within 66-57 early in the third quarter before the Celts pulled away again.

Three players were kicked out of the New York-Atlanta game after sporadic fisticuffs throughout the contest flared into a wild free-for-all under the Knicks' basket in the final quarter.

New York's Willis Reed and Lou Hudson and Bill Bridges of the Hawks were banished after order was restored.

Both benches rushed onto the floor and milled around with most of the players attempting to stop the fight. There were no serious injuries, although both Reed and Bridges suffered facial cuts and bloody noses.

Oaks Still Red Hot, Barry Gets 37 In Win

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Oaks, tailenders last season, continued their rise in the West Division of the American Basketball Association and soon may be out of sight.

The Oaks, behind the hot-shooting of league-leading scorer Rick Barry stopped Los Angeles, 129-125 Wednesday night and boosted their first-place margin to 4½ games over the Stars.

In other games Kentucky topped Denver 109-101, Indiana defeated Houston 106-94 and Miami toppled New York 141-126.

Jim Caldwell's 21 points and 16 rebounds sparked the Colonels at Louisville. Lonnie Wright had 24 points for Denver.

Five points in the last minute by Freddie Lewis stopped a Houston rally and sent the Pacers to their home court victory after the Mavericks had chopped a 26-point deficit to five in the last period. Mel Daniels topped Indiana with 20 points while Don Carlos had 27 for Houston.

Dallas Thornton dropped in 39 points as Miami coasted over New York. Bob Verga had 30 points for the Nets at Miami Beach.

Jim Barnett, who scored a career high 36 points, sparked a rally that boosted the Rockets from a nine-point deficit in the third quarter to a narrow lead in the final period.

But then Scott, who had managed only six of 17 shots from the floor and only one of eight in the first half, hit three baskets to give Baltimore control.

Robertson and Smith teamed for nine straight points in the second quarter to break a 42-42 deadlock as Cincinnati made the Warriors its 12th victim in 17 games. That spree helped the Royals to an 11-point halftime lead, and San Francisco never caught up.

Robertson finished with 29 points and Nate Thurmond had 27 for the Warriors.

Eight players scored in double figures for Boston with Tom Sanders and John Havlicek leading the way with 21 points each. Rookie Art Harris was high for Seattle with 16.

The Celtics trailed 15-11 halfway through the first period when they went on a 10-point tear and never relinquished the lead. Boston was ahead at halftime 66-51 but the Sonics moved to within 66-57 early in the third quarter before the Celts pulled away again.

Three players were kicked out of the New York-Atlanta game after sporadic fisticuffs throughout the contest flared into a wild free-for-all under the Knicks' basket in the final quarter.

New York's Willis Reed and Lou Hudson and Bill Bridges of the Hawks were banished after order was restored.

Both benches rushed onto the floor and milled around with most of the players attempting to stop the fight. There were no serious injuries, although both Reed and Bridges suffered facial cuts and bloody noses.

Oaks Still Red Hot, Barry Gets 37 In Win

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Oaks, tailenders last season, continued their rise in the West Division of the American Basketball Association and soon may be out of sight.

The Oaks, behind the hot-shooting of league-leading scorer Rick Barry stopped Los Angeles, 129-125 Wednesday night and boosted their first-place margin to 4½ games over the Stars.

In other games Kentucky topped Denver 109-101, Indiana defeated Houston 106-94 and Miami toppled New York 141-126.

Jim Caldwell's 21 points and 16 rebounds sparked the Colonels at Louisville. Lonnie Wright had 24 points for Denver.

Five points in the last minute by Freddie Lewis stopped a Houston rally and sent the Pacers to their home court victory after the Mavericks had chopped a 26-point deficit to five in the last period. Mel Daniels topped Indiana with 20 points while Don Carlos had 27 for Houston.

Dallas Thornton dropped in 39 points as Miami coasted over New York. Bob Verga had 30 points for the Nets at Miami Beach.

YOUR CAR

IN MANY PLACES YOU CAN GET A ticket for eating while TICKETHT HT HT T HT TTHH driving. Driving takes your full attention. Should smoking while driving also be illegal?

ONE OF THESE DAYS NO SPARE TIRE. Really! It's almost outdated. But when tires come out with a permanent foamed aluminum ring inside the tire, it will eliminate the spare. This 3-inch "spare tire built into your regular tire, will travel 50 miles with no damage to your flat tire.

DO POLICE USE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSIONS in their cars? Prowl cars in Detroit, Michigan use automatics, as many police now do. There is no acceleration problem. Many race cars are now automatics.

Coach Dawson Confident Despite Loss Of All 5 Wellsville Starters

Wellsville lost all the starters from its 9-11 team of 1967-68, but coach Bob Dawson is confident the Tigers will make a good showing this season.

"The attitude of the kids has really improved in one year", Dawson points out. "The boys played outdoors this summer and have begun to believe in themselves." Most of this year's varsity was on last year's fine reserve team. "We hope a good reserve team matures", Dawson says. "We may still be a year away."

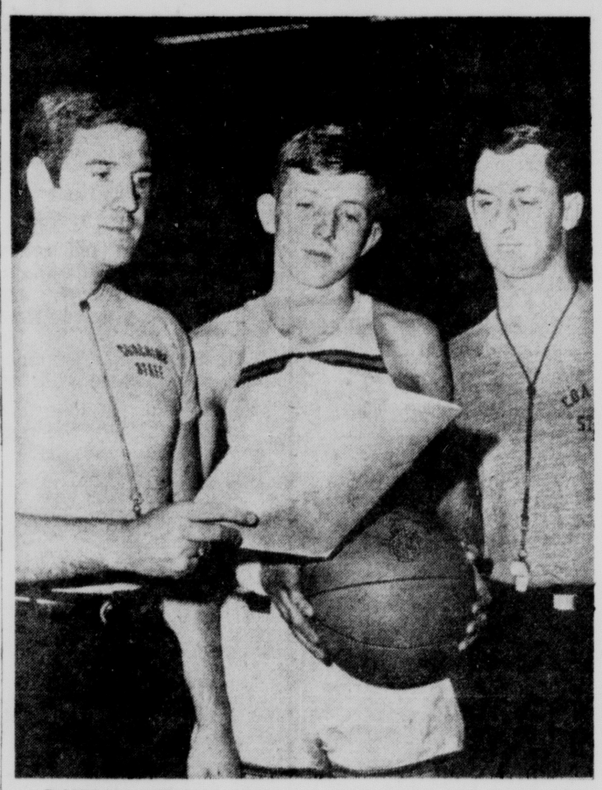

The Tigers will probably start four underclassmen, to go with the lone returning letterman, 5-10 senior Ken Kornbau. The front line will be three big juniors, 6-4 Jeff Ketchum, who has added a lot of needed weight since last season, 6-3 Paul Martin and 6-2 John Bobalik. The latter pair were the leading reserve scorers a year ago. The fifth starter may be a sophomore Joe D'Angelo, 6-0, who starred in junior high.

Seniors Bill Miller, 6-0, and Rick Ross, 5-8, are pressing for starting berths. Others on the squad are seniors Brad Call, 6-2, and Don Croskey, 6-1, and 6-0 juniors Greg Brophey and Darrell Smith.

Dawson says the Tigers will move the ball more this year than last year, when Wellsville sometimes used a "four-corner" offense. Defenses will be adjusted to the opponent.

Dawson picks Beaver Local and Springfield as the top teams in the Buckeye Border Conference, and tabs Salem, Midland and Steubenville Central as other powers on the schedule. Al Barlis assists Dawson.

The schedule:
Nov. 30—Beaver Local(x)
Dec. 6—at Midland
Dec. 7—at Jefferson Union(x)
Dec. 13—Lisbon
Dec. 17—at Oak Glen
Dec. 28—Southern Local(x)
Jan. 3—Toronto(x)
Jan. 4—at Springfield(x)
Jan. 10—Oak Glen
Jan. 11—at Salem
Jan. 17—at Beaver Local(x)

Dodger VP Thompson Dead At 66

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — L. Fresco Thompson, vice president and general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers and a 45-year veteran of professional baseball, died Wednesday night at 66.

He died at St. Judes Hospital after a long illness, reportedly involving a liver ailment.

Thompson, one of the brightest speakers on the baseball winter circuit, broke into baseball as an infielder at the age of 21 for Grand Island, Nev., in 1923.

In nine years in the major leagues—at Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh—he batted .298. In 1929 he hit .324 for the Phillies.

After serving as manager, scout, field supervisor and director of minor league operations for the Dodgers, Thompson became general manager and vice president last June 4. He spent 50 years with the Dodgers.

His widow Margaret, a daughter, a sister and brother and four grandchildren survive.

Rosary will be recited Friday in Fullerton, where Thompson lived. Requien high mass will be Saturday morning in St. Juliana's Catholic Crurch with burial in Queen of the Heaven Cemetery in La Puenta.

Wyoming Top College Defenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Wyoming maintained in national leadership in total defense and has taken over the rushing defensive lead, according to statistics released today by the National Collegiate Sports Service.

Wyoming permitted Texas-El-Paso just 167 yards last Saturday (knocking UTEP out of the passing lead), to lower its average to 194.9 total yards allowed per game. Syracuse was second with 205.4, ahead of Miami, Ohio, with 209.7.

By holding UTEP to a minus 60 yards rushing, Wyoming took over the rushing defensive lead with a 67.3 average. Syracuse was the runnerup with 72.5.

Harvard has the best defense against scoring, yielding an average of only 7.6 per games. Miami, Ohio, was next with 8.4.

Bill Veeck To Head Suffolk Downs Track

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Veeck says he's not going to run any "carnival operation" in his new role as head of Suffolk Downs but will concentrate on improving the caliber of racing and providing more enjoyment for the customers.

The controversial 54-year-old Veeck was named president of the thoroughbred and harness track at a news conference Wednesday as officials also announced sale of the track for $12 million in stock and cash to Realty Equities Corporation of New York.

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Jacques Anquetil of France and Felice Gimondi of Italy were confirmed as the winners of the Baracchi Cycling Trophy race by the Technical-Disciplinary Commission of the Italian Professional Cycling Union Wednesday night.

Legal Technicalities Confuse 'Dancer' Hearing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — After three days of testimony, the hearing on Dancer's Image still is enmeshed in analytic chemistry and legal technicalities.

The format remains unchanged today as Kenneth W. Smith returns to the witness stand to defend his laboratory tests which indicated that the 1968 Kenucky Derby winner had traces of a forbidden medication in his urine after the race.

Acting on this information, the stewards at Churchill Downs withheld the first prize of $122,600, a decision the colt's owner, Peter Fuller, is trying to get reversed.

His appeal is being handled by the Kentucky Racing Commission, which heard Smith admit Wednesday that he could have made a procedural error in one of the five tests he ran on the urine the night of May 4 after the Derby.

Smith, a state racing chemist since 1940, contended, however, there was enough evidence to prove conclusively that Phenylbutazone was present in the colt.

Smith also disclosed that on the day after the Derby he sent a small amount of the urine to a colleague "because I was curious to see what he would find."

YOUR CAR
BY AL GREEN

IN MANY PLACES YOU CAN GET A ticket for eating while TICKETHT HT HT T HT TTHH driving. Driving takes your full attention. Should smoking while driving also be illegal?

ONE OF THESE DAYS NO SPARE TIRE. Really! It's almost outdated. But when tires come out with a permanent foamed aluminum ring inside the tire, it will eliminate the spare. This 3-inch "spare tire built into your regular tire, will travel 50 miles with no damage to your flat tire.

DO POLICE USE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSIONS in their cars? Prowl cars in Detroit, Michigan use automatics, as many police now do. There is no acceleration problem. Many race cars are now automatics.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jorge Velasquez rode five winners at Aqueduct race track Wednesday.

Wellsville lost all the starters from its 9-11 team of 1967-68, but coach Bob Dawson is confident the Tigers will make a good showing this season.

"The attitude of the kids has really improved in one year", Dawson points out. "The boys played outdoors this summer and have begun to believe in themselves." Most of this year's varsity was on last year's fine reserve team. "We hope a good reserve team matures", Dawson says. "We may still be a year away."

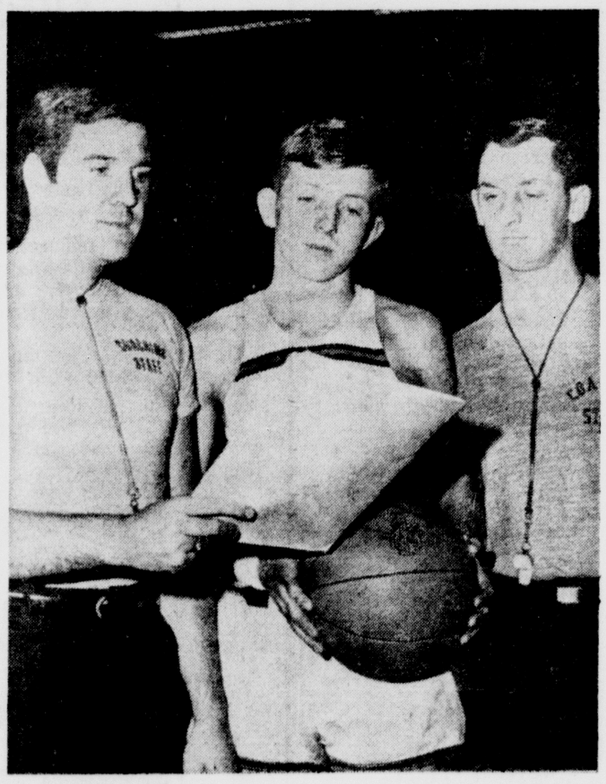

The Tigers will probably start four underclassmen, to go with the lone returning letterman, 5-10 senior Ken Kornbau. The front line will be three big juniors, 6-4 Jeff Ketchum, who has added a lot of needed weight since last season, 6-3 Paul Martin and 6-2 John Bobalik. The latter pair were the leading reserve scorers a year ago. The fifth starter may be a sophomore Joe D'Angelo, 6-0, who starred in junior high.

Seniors Bill Miller, 6-0, and Rick Ross, 5-8, are pressing for starting berths. Others on the squad are seniors Brad Call, 6-2, and Don Croskey, 6-1, and 6-0 juniors Greg Brophey and Darrell Smith.

Dawson says the Tigers will move the ball more this year than last year, when Wellsville sometimes used a "four-corner" offense. Defenses will be adjusted to the opponent.

Dawson picks Beaver Local and Springfield as the top teams in the Buckeye Border Conference, and tabs Salem, Midland and Steubenville Central as other powers on the schedule. Al Barlis assists Dawson.

The schedule:
Nov. 30—Beaver Local(x)
Dec. 6—at Midland
Dec. 7—at Jefferson Union(x)
Dec. 13—Lisbon
Dec. 17—at Oak Glen
Dec. 28—Southern Local(x)
Jan. 3—Toronto(x)
Jan. 4—at Springfield(x)
Jan. 10—Oak Glen
Jan. 11—at Salem
Jan. 17—at Beaver Local(x)
Jan. 21—Weirton Madonna
Jan. 25—Jefferson Union(x)
Jan. 31—at Southern Local(x)
Feb. 4—at Weirton Madonna
Feb. 14—at Toronto(x)
Feb. 8—Springfield(x)
Feb. 15—Steubenville Central

Dodger VP Thompson Dead At 66

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — L. Fresco Thompson, vice president and general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers and a 45-year veteran of professional baseball, died Wednesday night at 66.

He died at St. Judes Hospital after a long illness, reportedly involving a liver ailment.

Thompson, one of the brightest speakers on the baseball winter circuit, broke into baseball as an infielder at the age of 21 for Grand Island, Nev., in 1923.

In nine years in the major leagues—at Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh—he batted .298. In 1929 he hit .324 for the Phillies.

After serving as manager, scout, field supervisor and director of minor league operations for the Dodgers, Thompson became general manager and vice president last June 4. He spent 50 years with the Dodgers.

His widow Margaret, a daughter, a sister and brother and four grandchildren survive.

Rosary will be recited Friday in Fullerton, where Thompson lived. Requien high mass will be Saturday morning in St. Juliana's Catholic Crurch with burial in Queen of the Heaven Cemetery in La Puenta.

Bill Veeck To Head Suffolk Downs Track

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Veeck says he's not going to run any "carnival operation" in his new role as head of Suffolk Downs but will concentrate on improving the caliber of racing and providing more enjoyment for the customers.

The controversial 54-year-old Veeck was named president of the thoroughbred and harness track at a news conference Wednesday as officials also announced sale of the track for $12 million in stock and cash to Realty Equities Corporation of New York.

Legal Technicalities Confuse 'Dancer' Hearing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — After three days of testimony, the hearing on Dancer's Image still is enmeshed in analytic chemistry and legal technicalities.

The format remains unchanged today as Kenneth W. Smith returns to the witness stand to defend his laboratory tests which indicated that the 1968 Kenucky Derby winner had traces of a forbidden medication in his urine after the race.

Acting on this information, the stewards at Churchill Downs withheld the first prize of $122,600, a decision the colt's owner, Peter Fuller, is trying to get reversed.

His appeal is being handled by the Kentucky Racing Commission, which heard Smith admit Wednesday that he could have made a procedural error in one of the five tests he ran on the urine the night of May 4 after the Derby.

Smith, a state racing chemist since 1940, contended, however, there was enough evidence to prove conclusively that Phenylbutazone was present in the colt.

Smith also disclosed that on the day after the Derby he sent a small amount of the urine to a colleague "because I was curious to see what he would find."

Packers' Brown Named Week's Defensive Player

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Brown is the Green Bay Packers' strong safety. His main job is to handle tight ends like Baltimore's John Mackey and Los Angeles' Bill Truax. If he gets his hands on the ball it's usually an interception or a punt return.

In nine Packer games before laet Sunday's meeting with New Orleans, Brown had picked off only one pass and had scored one touchdown on a punt return.

Brown made headlines Sunday for the first time since he intercepted Don Meredith's desperation pass in the final seconds of the 1966 National Football League title game. For sweeping up a New Orleans fumble and running 22 yards for a score and also intercepting a pass that set up a touchdown, Brown has been named The Associated Press as the defensive player of the week in the NFL.

"On the fumble you have to give credit to Herb Adderley and Robby (linebacker Dave Robinson," Brown said. "They hit Saints' runner Don McCall high and low and forced the fumble. The ball was just lying there and anybody could have run it in.

"Robby deflected the pass on the interception and it was just a matter of me playing the ball."

George Andrie, 6-foot-7, 250-pound defensive end of the Dallas Cowboys, also drew a nomination for his part in a pass rush that forced a fumble that led to a 21-yard touchdown run by Larry Cole, the other defensive end.

Bob Lurtsema, New York Giants' defensive tackle, was awarded the game ball for his aggressive play against Philadelphia when the Giants held the Eagles to minus one yard in the second half.

Graebner, Ashe Sick, Cup In Doubt

LONDON (AP)—Hopes of the United States winning back the Davis Cup tennis trophy from Australia next month were at a low ebb today.

Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner were ordered by doctors Wednesday to take a rest from tennis. Ashe, the U.S. Open champion from Richmond, Va., has an injured right elbow. Graebner, of New York, was sent home with a strained back.

"It is a worrying situation," said Donald Dell, captain of the U.S. team.

Ashe said he hopes "this trouble will clear up if I rest for a week or so."

Dell added "the doctor said it would be unfair to expose Arthur to high international competition when his right elbow is so sore."

Graebner was told by Dr. Ogden Clark not to play tennis again for three weeks. That would leave him only two weeks practice before the Davis Cup challenge round in Australia starting Dec. 26.

Inter-League Trading Period Opens Today

By The Associated Press

Baseball's inter-league trading period started today, but no trades were immediately made known.

Observers generally expect a flurry of action during the period from Wednesday midnight to midnight, Sunday, Dec. 15. During this time, players can be transferred between the two major leagues without the usual waivers.

Richie Allen, hard-hitting third baseman-outfielder with the Philadelphia Phillies, and catcher Joe Torre of the Atlanta Braves are two stars rumored to be on the trading block.

Packers' Brown Named Week's Defensive Player

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Brown is the Green Bay Packers' strong safety. His main job is to handle tight ends like Baltimore's John Mackey and Los Angeles' Bill Truax. If he gets his hands on the ball it's usually an interception or a punt return.

In nine Packer games before laet Sunday's meeting with New Orleans, Brown had picked off only one pass and had scored one touchdown on a punt return.

Brown made headlines Sunday for the first time since he intercepted Don Meredith's desperation pass in the final seconds of the 1966 National Football League title game. For sweeping up a New Orleans fumble and running 22 yards for a score and also intercepting a pass that set up a touchdown, Brown has been named The Associated Press as the defensive player of the week in the NFL.

"On the fumble you have to give credit to Herb Adderley and Robby (linebacker Dave Robinson," Brown said. "They hit Saints' runner Don McCall high and low and forced the fumble. The ball was just lying there and anybody could have run it in.

"Robby deflected the pass on the interception and it was just a matter of me playing the ball."

George Andrie, 6-foot-7, 250-pound defensive end of the Dallas Cowboys, also drew a nomination for his part in a pass rush that forced a fumble that led to a 21-yard touchdown run by Larry Cole, the other defensive end.

Bob Lurtsema, New York Giants' defensive tackle, was awarded the game ball for his aggressive play against Philadelphia when the Giants held the Eagles to minus one yard in the second half.

Baseball's inter-league trading period started today, but no trades were immediately made known.

Observers generally expect a flurry of action during the period from Wednesday midnight to midnight, Sunday, Dec. 15. During this time, players can be transferred between the two major leagues without the usual waivers.

Richie Allen, hard-hitting third baseman-outfielder with the Philadelphia Phillies, and catcher Joe Torre of the Atlanta Braves are two stars rumored to be on the trading block.

Because the settlement was paid so quickly without any questions asked. What can you get for 10c these days? I am more than pleased with the policy.

Glennis Byland

When I gave my paperboy the application I never thought I would need it, but it sure did come in handy. I am glad I did take the Review Insurance.

Gladys Skeens
East Liverpool, Ohio
It has the fastest claim service that I have ever received on any type of insurance. The rates are exceptionally low and also I can't believe that I have already received more benefits than the policy will cost me in two years. I am sold on this insurance. I think every family should have it.

Mrs. R. M. Johnson
Chester, W. Va.
I think it is the most inexpensive but still the most beneficial policy anyone could have. Making the payment with the Review payment is so easy and you hardly miss the small amount.

Agnes Bennett
East Liverpool, Ohio
Because you took care of my claim as you said you would.

Charles Poole
East Liverpool, Ohio
Because it is most reliable.

Phyllis M. Bradley

Pleasant, fast, satisfactory service.

It's a good insurance to have an inexpensive one. It does so much for so little cost per week.

Man Who Changed Sex Plans To Marry Negro

NEW YORK (AP) Dawn Langley Hall, once Gordon Langley Hall, adopted son of British actress Dame Margaret Rutherford, says her romance with a young Negro mechanic in South Carolina began while she was undergoing sex-change treatment.

"He said it was the quickest romance he ever did hear tell of," said the new Charleston belle of her prospective husband, 22-year-old John Paul Simmons.

But, says Dawn, she was just "rather amused" when she first saw the young man stare at her after he came to her Society Street home in Charleston to join her cook on a double date.

At that time she was back in Charleston during a break in an 18-month treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, treatment which included surgery, psychiatry and hormones.

And when the young mechanic first saw her, she said, she was carrying out the Hopkins doctors' orders to dress and behave like a woman.

She recalls that at their first meeting he was wearing "high boots, plaid pants and a yellow sweater, and looked very mod."

But she thought no more about it, she says, until "that night he forced entry into the house dressed in dirty old overalls, with his mechanic's cap over his eyes, and his arms full of flowers. He had bought every flower he could find. He was a very brave young man. He told me: 'I'll never leave you again.' "

The doctors interviewed Simmons and approved the relationship, she said, adding: "He had to ask 20 fathers for my hand."

Miss Hall, a 102-pound brunette with long hair, large and limpid eyes and the voice and manners of a sheltered English lady, is in her late 30's. But, she said, she feels that in every respect Simmons is "an old man to me."

Miss Hall, who plans to marry Simmons early next year in England—her adopted parents, Dame Margaret and her husband, actor Stringer Davis, expect to attend—sported an ornate seven-diamond engagement ring during a shopping and business trip here.

"He (Simmons) worked for three weeks as a longshoreman to get it," she said.

After the wedding, she says, despite threats and the disapproval of the Charleston society which once accepted her as a male British author, she and Simmons plan to live in Charleston.

"It's he that wants to," she said. "Charlestonians, black or white, have a great love of their city. I want to also have a home in Barbados and raise cattle—and a place where the children we plan to adopt can go swimming. And my adoptive parents will come—they're great swimmers—and it will be great fun.

"I feel that Gordon has died. I lived a life, crippled though I was, to the best of my ability. Before I was 30, I had written 10 books.

"Now this is a new life."

Reach Agreement

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — The Essex Wire Corp. and representatives of Local 1080, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, reached agreement Wednesday on a new three-year contract, ending a four-year contract, ending a four-week strike by 500 employes.

Man Who Changed Sex Plans To Marry Negro

NEW YORK (AP) Dawn Langley Hall, once Gordon Langley Hall, adopted son of British actress Dame Margaret Rutherford, says her romance with a young Negro mechanic in South Carolina began while she was undergoing sex-change treatment.

"He said it was the quickest romance he ever did hear tell of," said the new Charleston belle of her prospective husband, 22-year-old John Paul Simmons.

But, says Dawn, she was just "rather amused" when she first saw the young man stare at her after he came to her Society Street home in Charleston to join her cook on a double date.

At that time she was back in Charleston during a break in an 18-month treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, treatment which included surgery, psychiatry and hormones.

And when the young mechanic first saw her, she said, she was carrying out the Hopkins doctors' orders to dress and behave like a woman.

She recalls that at their first meeting he was wearing "high boots, plaid pants and a yellow sweater, and looked very mod."

But she thought no more about it, she says, until "that night he forced entry into the house dressed in dirty old overalls, with his mechanic's cap over his eyes, and his arms full of flowers. He had bought every flower he could find. He was a very brave young man. He told me: 'I'll never leave you again.'"

The doctors interviewed Simmons and approved the relationship, she said, adding: "He had to ask 20 fathers for my hand."

Miss Hall, a 102-pound brunette with long hair, large and limpid eyes and the voice and manners of a sheltered English lady, is in her late 30's. But, she said, she feels that in every respect Simmons is "an old man to me."

Miss Hall, who plans to marry Simmons early next year in England—her adopted parents, Dame Margaret and her husband, actor Stringer Davis, expect to attend—sported an ornate seven-diamond engagement ring during a shopping and business trip here.

"He (Simmons) worked for three weeks as a longshoreman to get it," she said.

After the wedding, she says, despite threats and the disapproval of the Charleston society which once accepted her as a male British author, she and Simmons plan to live in Charleston.

"It's he that wants to," she said. "Charlestonians, black or white, have a great love of their city. I want to also have a home in Barbados and raise cattle—and a place where the children we plan to adopt can go swimming. And my adoptive parents will come—they're great swimmers—and it will be great fun.

"I feel that Gordon has died. I lived a life, crippled though I was, to the best of my ability. Before I was 30, I had written 10 books.

"Now this is a new life."

Reach Agreement

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — The Essex Wire Corp. and representatives of Local 1080, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, reached agreement Wednesday on a new three-year contract, ending a four-year contract, ending a four-week strike by 500 employes.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOSQUITOES

QUESTION: Where do mosquitoes spend the winter?

* * * *

ANSWER: Our upper picture shows the mosquito's life cycle. Although there are different kinds, all lay their eggs in or near water, perhaps the edge of a swamp, or in any water-filled receptacle, like a tin can. Eggs of the culex mosquito we show are laid in floating rafts, the tiny larvae or wrigglers emerging very shortly. These turn to pupae and from these the adults come out, perhaps 8 or 9 days after hatching. Certain kinds may produce a complete generation every two or three weeks. The winter is passed differently by different kinds. Some crawl into cracks and hibernate like many other animals. Others pass the winter in the egg state. One kind gets frozen in the leaves of the pitcher plant and resumes its growth again in the spring. Our illustration points up an odd fact: it is only the females which bite human beings. The mosquito labelled "a bad kind" is anopheles, which can carry yellow fever. These only live in tropical or subtropical regions. They can be told by the queer way in which they stand. They have been exterminated from some areas, like the Panama Canal Zone.

(Theresa Soltis of New Britain, Conn., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

The DOCTOR Says

Combat Water Brash By Careful Eating

Q — My husband frequently gets water brash. It may even wake him up at night. He doesn't drink but he smokes a lot. What causes water brash and what can he do for it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—To some people, water brash means the bringing up of liquid from the stomach into the mouth. This could be a direct result of excessive smoking. Quitting should help this symptom. For temporary relief any of the many aluminum hydroxide antacids could be taken.

ONE OF THE most important measures, however, is to cultivate the habit of eating slowly and chewing the food thoroughly. At the turn of the century, Horace Fletcher, an American dietician, advocated this practice and the term "to fletcherize," meaning to chew each mouthful of food 40 times before swallowing, was added to the language.

MORE CORRECTLY, water brash refers to reflex out pouring of alkaline saliva and its regurgitation from the esophagus. It is usually associated with peptic ulcer or an obstruction in the esophagus.

Q—What is a nervous stomach? I have the symptoms of an ulcer — gnawing distress relieved by food, flatulence sleeplessness — yet X rays show no signs of an ulcer. What would cause these symptoms?

A — Nervous stomach is a vague term that may mean a finicky appetite, acid indigestion caused by nervous tension or the abdominal distress associated with colitis. Gnawing discomfort relieved by food taking is characteristic of a peptic ulcer only if the distress can be pinpointed in the pit of the stomach. When it exists without X-ray confirmation of the disease, it may be due to some other cause which should be sought.

FLATULENCE OR bloating may be associated with excessive air swallowing, colitis, a starchy diet, drinking large amounts of carbonated beverages or the regular taking of laxatives. Insomnia has many causes but, when due to an ulcer, the victim is awakened from a sound sleep by his gnawing distress and can't go to sleep again until he drinks a glass of milk or eats some gelatin.

Q—A friend tells me that every now and then she loses the entire lining of her stomach. Can this be so?

A—No.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

6 In Gang Wait Sentencing In Gaming Charges

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Six Greater Cleveland men known as the "Weiner and Pickle Gang" are awaiting sentencing after being found guilty in U.S. District Court of federal gambling violations.

Judge Frank J. Battisti made the finding Wednesday after the men entered no contest pleas to federal charges that they used interstate telephone lines in a $20,000 - a - month horse betting operation.

The six were arrested by the FBI last spring in the cracking of a three-state bookie network. Similar arrests were made in FBI raids at Buffalo, N. Y., and New Orleans.

The Cleveland area men earned the "weiner and pickle" tag because they worked out of delicatessens. Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert J. Rotatori said they face up to five years in jail and a $5,000 fine.

Judge Battisti delayed sentencing pending a presentence report and the men were released on $1,000 bond each.

They are Aaron H. Goldstein, 63, Cleveland; Hyman H. Goldberg, 54, Beachwood; Henry A. Abrams, 65, East Cleveland; Ralph Fain, 52, University Heights, and Sam L. Firsten, 65, and Oscar H. Schwartz, 55, both of South Euclid.

The DOCTOR Says

Combat Water Brash By Careful Eating

Q — My husband frequently gets water brash. It may even wake him up at night. He doesn't drink but he smokes a lot. What causes water brash and what can he do for it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—To some people, water brash means the bringing up of liquid from the stomach into the mouth. This could be a direct result of excessive smoking. Quitting should help this symptom. For temporary relief any of the many aluminum hydroxide antacids could be taken.

ONE OF THE most important measures, however, is to cultivate the habit of eating slowly and chewing the food thoroughly. At the turn of the century, Horace Fletcher, an American dietician, advocated this practice and the term "to fletcherize," meaning to chew each mouthful of food 40 times before swallowing, was added to the language.

MORE CORRECTLY, water brash refers to reflex out pouring of alkaline saliva and its regurgitation from the esophagus. It is usually associated with peptic ulcer or an obstruction in the esophagus.

Q—What is a nervous stomach? I have the symptoms of an ulcer — gnawing distress relieved by food, flatulence sleeplessness — yet X rays show no signs of an ulcer. What would cause these symptoms?

A — Nervous stomach is a vague term that may mean a finicky appetite, acid indigestion caused by nervous tension or the abdominal distress associated with colitis. Gnawing discomfort relieved by food taking is characteristic of a peptic ulcer only if the distress can be pinpointed in the pit of the stomach. When it exists without X-ray confirmation of the disease, it may be due to some other cause which should be sought.

FLATULENCE OR bloating may be associated with excessive air swallowing, colitis, a starchy diet, drinking large amounts of carbonated beverages or the regular taking of laxatives. Insomnia has many causes but, when due to an ulcer, the victim is awakened from a sound sleep by his gnawing distress and can't go to sleep again until he drinks a glass of milk or eats some gelatin.

Q—A friend tells me that every now and then she loses the entire lining of her stomach. Can this be so?

A—No.

6 In Gang Wait Sentencing In Gaming Charges

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Six Greater Cleveland men known as the "Weiner and Pickle Gang" are awaiting sentencing after being found guilty in U.S. District Court of federal gambling violations.

Judge Frank J. Battisti made the finding Wednesday after the men entered no contest pleas to federal charges that they used interstate telephone lines in a $20,000 - a - month horse betting operation.

The six were arrested by the FBI last spring in the cracking of a three-state bookie network. Similar arrests were made in FBI raids at Buffalo, N. Y., and New Orleans.

The Cleveland area men earned the "weiner and pickle" tag because they worked out of delicatessens. Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert J. Rotatori said they face up to five years in jail and a $5,000 fine.

Judge Battisti delayed sentencing pending a presentence report and the men were released on $1,000 bond each.

They are Aaron H. Goldstein, 63, Cleveland; Hyman H. Goldberg, 54, Beachwood; Henry A. Abrams, 65, East Cleveland; Ralph Fain, 52, University Heights, and Sam L. Firsten, 65, and Oscar H. Schwartz, 55, both of South Euclid.
